BANKER MORSE GETS 15 YEARS IN ATLANTA PEN

Former Ice King and Shipping Magnate to Occupy Felon's Cell.

MRS. MORSE COLLAPSED WHEN THE JUDGE SPOKE

Curtis Given the Clemency Recommended by the Jury—Judge Hough Said There Was Nothing for Morse but to Go to Prison.

New York, November 6.—From a cell in the Tombs prison Charles W. Morse now directs the efforts of his counsel to secure his freedom, he having today been sentenced to serve fifteen years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., for misapplication of the funds of the National Bank of North America, and making false entries in the books of the bank.

Alfred H. Curtis, former president of the defunct bank, who was jointly tried and convicted with Morse, was given his liberty today on a suspended sentence.

While Morse's lawyers immediately applied for and secured a stay of ten days after sentence had been imposed, still it is probable that Morse will remain a prisoner in the Tombs until Monday, as Judge Hough has refused to admit the financier to bail. The Morse lawyers late today applied to the United States circuit court of appeals for a writ to show cause why their client should not be admitted to bail, and the writ was granted, but it is not returnable until Monday, hence it appears that Morse must remain a prisoner until the question of bail is settled on that day.

Whether a new trial will be granted Morse is problematical. Judge Lacombe granted a writ of error to the Morse lawyers today. This writ is returnable December 3, and is based on the usual grounds—exceptions taken by the defense during the trial and exceptions to the indictment itself. This step had to be taken before application for bail could be made, and it also leads to the argument for a new trial. The Morse lawyers say their client has instructed them to fight "to the last ditch."

Dramatic Scene in Court.

The scene in the court room when sentence was pronounced by Judge Hough was a most dramatic one. The wives of the two prisoners, who had been constant attendants at court during the entire trial, were present early today, as if anxious to cheer their husbands by their presence in the trying ordeal which confronted them.

When the real test came, however, it was the husbands and not the wives who proved the comforters. Morse sat like a stoic when he heard the words which condemned him to prison. There was scarcely the tremor of an eyelid, and to those who watched there was no longer even the shadow of a doubt that the "little man" was indeed a man of iron nerve. Curtis, too, accepted the news which came to him—good news in his case—with the same lack of emotion that characterized his former chief.

But the strain had been too great for the women. As the truth of what Judge Hough's words meant flashed through her mind, Mrs. Morse, who through all the trying days of the trial had preserved an unruffled demeanor, collapsed in her seat, buried her face in her hands and began to sob convulsively. Still weeping, she was led away to an ante-room, where a moment later her husband held her in his arms and sought to console her. Nor was Mrs. Curtis any more prepared for the nervous strain than Mrs. Morse. Mrs. Curtis, within the rail, was gazing intently at Judge Hough as he began to speak. She had been ill and several times during the trial had been forced to leave her place in the court room. Today her face was drawn and white, telling of a night mingled with hope and fear, while her husband remained away from her behind the bars of a prison cell. When the judgment of the court—the most favorable for her husband that could be given—was pronounced, she fainted and would have fallen had not kindly hands supported her.

Passed Restful Night.

Morse and Curtis passed a fairly restful night in the Tombs, where they occupied a cell together, and early this morning, after a breakfast of plain prison fare, they were taken to the federal prison building by Marshal Henkel and to the court room long before the crowds began to gather. They appeared to be cheerful and chatted with their keepers and friends while the minutes ticked slowly away. More than an hour before the time set for the convening of court, crowds began to throng the corridors of the federal building and flock to the room, hoping to witness the closing scenes in the sensational case.

Mrs. Morse and Mrs. Curtis were among the early arrivals. Mrs. Morse came first, accompanied by her stepsons. She greeted her husband affectionately, and the two boys shook their father's hand warmly. Next came Mrs. Curtis. She threw her arms around her husband, kissed him and the sank into a seat beside Mrs. Morse and the boys. From that time on the crowd gathered

GEORGIA SYNOD CLOSES SESSION

Cedartown Was Selected for the Next Meeting of the Synod.

Athens, Ga., November 6.—(Special.)—The synod of Georgia closed its session tonight. It will hold its next meeting in Cedartown. The morning session was devoted to a discussion of foreign missions, addresses being made by Dr. I. C. McElroy, of Columbus; Dr. S. H. Chester, secretary of foreign missions; Dr. Bradley, of Su Chien, China; Mr. Caskey, of the interdenominational committee of the layman's movement, and C. A. Rowland, of Athens.

A resolution was passed that the synod of Georgia raise $30,000 for the endowment of Columbia Theological seminary. Rev. James Stacy, for thirty-two years the clerk of the synod, laid down his work today, and in his place Rev. John S. Armstrong, of Atlanta, was selected. The closing sermon tonight was preached by Rev. W. L. Lingle, of Atlanta.

JOS. M. BROWN SPOKE AT DUBLIN

Made Address and Urged Harmony Among All the People.

Dublin, Ga., November 6.—(Special.)—Governor-elect Joseph M. Brown arrived in Dublin yesterday afternoon, and from that time until this afternoon he was the gest of friends in this city. Last night he was entertained at the home of Izzie Bashinski, several citizens being present at a delightful dinner. This morning the governor was given an auto ride around the city, nine automobiles being in line.

He stopped at the High School building, where he made a short address, and in the court house he made a speech of about thirty minutes to a large crowd of citizens who had come into the city to hear him. His speech was well received, his remarks being on the line of harmony among the people and the building up of the state's resources. C. A. Wellington, the recent campaign, had charge of the president of the Hoke Smith Club in entertainment of the governor.

TAFT INVITED BY SAVANNAH

Invited to Visit That City During Tour of the South.

Savannah, Ga., November 6.—(Special.) Through Mayor Tiedeman and a committee from the city trade bodies, Savannah has today extended an invitation to President-elect William H. Taft to visit Savannah during his tour of the south. It had already been determined to invite him to the automobile races, and he may combine his acceptance of the two invitations if he decides to come at all to Savannah.

His cousin, W. L. Taft, a retired capitalist of Massachusetts, has leased a home in Savannah, and will spend the winter here. His two daughters will enter a Savannah school for the term. Miss Helen Taft, the next president's daughter, was recently a guest in Savannah, and is well known in Savannah society.

STANDARD OIL AGENT IGNORANT AS TO TRUSTS

Couldn't Tell What a Trust Is, but Sure Standard Oil Is Not a Trust.

New York, November 6.—In an effort to get a special agent of the Standard Oil Company, Louis Blaustein, to define a "trust" the government's atorney in the suit to dissolve the corporation livened the proceedings today with sharp dialogue.

"Do you understand there are no trusts in the oil business?" the witness was asked.

A negative reply was given.

Asked if he knew what a trust is, the Standard agent said he did not.

"But you say you did not consider the Standard a trust. How could you say that if you did not know what a trust was?"

The witness explained that he believed a trust was a harmful company, and that he did not consider the Standard in that class. He characterized the Standard as the largest of the independent companies.

Questioned as to his idea of an independent company, Mr. Blaustein said: "I consider an independent company one that is in every way independent of banks or any one else to assist it in doing business, and also one that makes its own prices regardless of any one else."

On cross-examination the witness explained that concealment of Standard ownership of so-called independent companies was for no other purpose than to give Standard agents active competition. At no time, he declared, did the advent of any of these companies change prices or affect the public.

No Tour for British Fleet.

London, November 6.—The idea of sending a British fleet on a tour around the world apparently never has advanced beyond the stage of suggestion. Alfred Deakin, the prime minister of Australia, hinted at the advisability of such a maneuver after the departure of the American fleet from Australia, but today a high permanent official of the admiralty authorized the statement that no such voyage was contemplated.

ATLANTA READY TO RECEIVE TAFT

Letter Follows Telegram of Chamber of Commerce.

ANSWER IS EXPECTED TODAY

President Candler, of Chamber of Commerce, Writes Letter to the President-Elect Telling Him Atlanta and All Georgia Will Gladly Welcome Him.

Whether Judge Taft, the next president of the United States, will spend the winter in Atlanta prior to his inauguration at Washington on March 4, will probably be known in Atlanta during the day.

Following his cordial invitation to visit Atlanta, sent by wire Thursday night, President Asa G. Candler, of the Atlanta chamber of commerce, wrote Judge Taft a long letter urging that he visit Atlanta and assuring him of a warm-hearted welcome from all Georgia. His letter to Judge Taft, in full, is as follows:

President Candler's Letter.

Atlanta, Ga., November 6, 1908.—Hon. William H. Taft, Cincinnati, Ohio. My Dear Sir: I beg that you pardon the liberty which I have taken in wiring you as per inclosed copy.

I am sure you would do so, and in addition thereto, at least favorably consider accepting our invitation, if you knew how eagerly expectant our people are looking to you as their own real president for the next quadrennium. We have a right to claim that Atlanta comes nearer being the leading southern city than any other place in any state, and when you consider that you are the first republican candidate for whom the south has cast so large a vote in fifty years, if indeed ever, I am sure you will give serious consideration to our request that you sojourn with us for a time.

The great service which you have performed in connection with the material improvements of the country more directly affect the south than any other section. This has created for you great respect everywhere in our section, but more especially so in that portion of it that is tributary to and closely allied to Atlanta's commercial welfare.

I beg that you do not consider it necessary for me further to pledge to you the very high regard of all our people, and they would greatly appreciate a more intimate personal acquaintance with you. For these reasons let me indulge the hope that we may expect you to be one of us, at least during the coming winter.

I am, sir, most respectfully yours,
ASA G. CANDLER,
President Chamber of Commerce.

Colonel Lowry Writes.

In addition to these, Colonel Robert J. Lowry, a presidential elector on the republican ticket from the state-at-large, has written Judge Taft a letter urging him to visit Atlanta, and may go to Hot Springs to see him, later to urge that he visit Atlanta.

President H. H. Jackson, of the Fulton County Taft Club, has written to Judge Taft, as has President Morris Brandon, of the Yale Alumni Association of Atlanta.

Not until something definite is heard from Judge Taft in regard to his future plans can any further steps be taken in this direction. As soon as he intimates that he may come, it is possible a strong delegation will go to Hot Springs, where he will probably be next week, and urge that he come to Atlanta.

Once decided that he will visit Atlanta, the plans for his entertainment will go rapidly forward.

GOOD ROADS AMENDMENT WAS CARRIED IN ALABAMA

New County and Biennial Sessions Amendments Are in Doubt.

Montgomery, Ala., November 6.—(Special.)—Early returns indicate that, while the goods roads amendment has carried, those for new county organization and biennial sessions are in doubt.

The county amendment proposed to form new counties of not less than 600 square miles area, with values of not less than $1,000,000 and not less than enough citizens for one representative in the legislature, provided that in so doing no county is reduced below 600 miles square. The good roads amendment seeks to apply the convict earnings to the roads, each county to get a share and the third amendment to provide for sessions of the legislature every two years instead of four.

FRENCH JOCKEY CLUB WILL BAR AMERICANS

Trainers and Jockeys Under Ban, Three Years' Residence in France Now Rule.

New York, November 6.—The French Jockey Club is about to take action to bar American trainers and jockeys from the turf in France, according to a private cable message to a well-known horse owner here. The club, it is said, has decided to establish a rule requiring three years' residence in France before a license will be issued to either trainers or jokeys to ride. The closing of the race tracks in New York is said to be responsible for this rule, the French club believing that a large number of trainers and jockeys thrown out of employment there will go to France.

BIG STORE IN BANKRUPTCY

Involuntary Bankruptcy Proceedings Against George D. Whaley.

Americus, Ga., November 6.—(Special.)—Involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were instituted this afternoon against George D. Whaley, and his extensive establishment was closed, with United States Marshal White appointed receiver. Mr. Whaley has made no official statement of his liabilities and assets as yet, but both are probably considerable. This store is among the oldest and largest mercantile establishments in southwestern Georgia, and in local commercial circles the proceedings this afternoon are generally regretted. No other institutions here are affected thereby.

OFFICERS NAMED BY DAUGHTERS

Mrs. P. W. Godfrey, of Covington, Made State Regent.

BRUNSWICK WAS SELECTED

A Number of Atlanta Ladies Were Selected Among the Newly Chosen Officers—Covington Proved a Royal Host to the D. A. R.

By Linton K. Starr.

Covington, Ga., November 6.—(Special Correspondence.)—After a most delightful three days' session here, the tenth annual state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution came to an end after transacting some important business matters this morning.

Preceding the election of officers a number of matters of minor importance came up for consideration, besides the more important matters of the session.

Mrs. John M. Graham, of Marietta, tendered her resignation as state editor. The splendid work of Mrs. Graham is recognized throughout the organization as being of great value, and was only with the deepest regret that her resignation was accepted.

In appreciation of the paper's services to the Daughters of the Revolution in the space given them in the Sunday issue and other services rendered, a resolution of thanks to The Atlanta Constitution was unanimously passed.

Election of Officers.

Probably more interest has been manifested over the elections, which took place this morning, than any other regular business matter which has come before this conference.

The following are the state officers chosen:

State regent, Mrs. P. W. Godfrey, of Covington; first vice state regent, Mrs. John M. Graham, of Marietta; second vice state regent, Mrs. George Brown, of Atlanta; recording secretary, Mrs. Howard McCall, of Atlanta; corresponding secretary, Miss Flora Carr, of Covington; state treasurer, Mrs. A. O. Harper, of Elberton; state historian, Mrs. T. M. Green, of Washington; state editor, Mrs. W. C. Clarke, of Covington; assistant state editors, Mrs. Joseph Harrison of Columbus, and Mrs. Walter Scott Wilson, of Savannah.

Mrs. P. W. Godfrey, the new state regent, is a charming personality, and one of Covington's leading matrons. Mrs. Godfrey is a daughter of Hon. Lucius Hardee, who, at the time of his death, was nominee for governor of Florida. She was admitted to the Daughters of the American Revolution as a lineage descendant of Major John Hardee, a Floridaian by birth, but later of Savannah, Ga. All the other officers are also women of note in Georgia.

Brunswick Was Selected.

The cordial invitation to the Daughters to make Brunswick their next meeting place was accepted, and the

MARYLAND SURE TO DIVIDE VOTE

Taft Certain of at Least One Elector.

ALL RETURNS NOT REPORTED

Will Take the Last Vote to Decide Just How Maryland Stands, Says The Baltimore News. Two Counties Yet to Report.

Baltimore, November 6.—The official returns from two of the missing counties, Dorchester and Saint Georges, were received late this afternoon, and the count was completed in all but five wards in Baltimore city.

The result, however, is still in doubt. From the latest figures it seems certain that Bryan will have six electors and maybe seven. Taft is sure of one. The latter's plurality in the city, so far as the highest electors is concerned, has swelled by gains over the unofficial coun until it is now certain to reach about 2,400. His plurality in the state will be about 620.

The delay in the counties, which are Worcester and St. Mary, were said to be due to technicalities. The city board of canvassers resumed its labors today, and the indication is that the entire state will be completed by tonight.

Up to the time of adjournment for luncheon of the city supervisors, four wards had been gone over, completing, with the wards canvassed yesterday, 16 of the 24 in the city. Practically all of them show greater or less gains for Taft from the unofficial figures, and if maintained his plurality in the city will be well over 2,000.

Basing its calculation on the unofficial figures in those counties and the city wards where the official count has not been completed, The Baltimore News says:

"The certainties are that Bryan has five electors and Taft one. The other two are doubtful."

This announcement is preceded by the statement that "until the last vote is counted, it will be impossible to say exactly how many of the Bryan electors and how many of the Taft electors have been elected."

DEMOCRATS WILL CONTROL LEGISLATURE IN MISSOURI

St. Louis, November 6.—Supplementary returns early failed to disturb materially Taft's lead of 4,235 votes in Missouri. The state legislature seems fixed at a democratic majority of 6 on joint ballot, although this is subject to change.

What doubts now exist relate mostly to the minor state offices and the constitutional amendments, which were proposed for adoption. Definite figures are lacking on these matters, however, and it is impossible to predict the results. Swanger, republican nominee for secretary of state, seems to have a

WILL ATTEMPT TO HEAL BREACH

Better Understanding Between Cotton Exchanges and Farmers.

COMMITTEES ARE TO MEET

At Request of President Thompson, of New Orleans Exchange, President Barrett Will Appoint Committee to Meet Exchange Committee.

New Orleans, November 6.—Steps are to be taken in the early future which, it is believed, will heal the breach between the farmers' unions throughout the south and the various cotton exchanges, including the New Orleans body. Negotiations are to be made between the union and the local exchange, and both sides expect that a better understanding will be established.

At the request of W. B. Thompson, president of the New Orleans exchange, C. S. Barrett, president of the National Farmers' Union, will appoint a committee which will meet the cotton exchange's contract revision committee, and suggestions will be considered as to a new form of contract which is to be adopted.

Many of the members of the Farmers' Union are opposed to cotton exchanges on general principles, and others are opposed to such organizations because they believe they have specific grievances. All of this is to be threshed out at the conference of the two committees. It is very probable that the meeting in New Orleans will take place on the evening of November 11, and that the matter will be placed before the union's convention for ratification on the following day.

Officials of the cotton exchange say that the exchange wishes to be absolutely fair in its dealings with the planter, and that it will welcome an open discussion, such as is planned.

First Snow in Gotham.

New York, November 6.—New York had its first snow of the season last night, when, in the upper part of the town a few flakes sifted in on a 15-mile breeze. The mean temperature yesterday and last night was 14 degrees below the average for the day, making the day the coldest November 5 in the history of the local weather bureau.

Shot and Fatally Injured.

comfortable lead for the place, although his election is not assured. Returns thus far indicate an average republican lead of 2,000 for the minor places. Less than 75 per cent of the vote is included in these reports.

GOOD STREETS PLEADED FOR BY TAX PAYERS

Many Complaints Heard by Special Street Investigating Committee of Council.

THOSE NOT "CUSSING" HAVE RELIGION, THEY SAY

Committee Will Meet Again to Hear Complaints Made by Letter—Personal Inspection Will Be Made in Auto—Another Meeting to Be Held Monday.

"If the people out my way haven't been cussing they have sure got religion."

"The city officials can't find us when our streets are in mud and water, but they always find us when they want us to pay taxes."

"We have had 500 promises for seven years passed and we are still in the mud."

These were some of the expressions indulged in by the crowd of citizens who appeared before the special street investigating committee of council yesterday afternoon.

The mayor's committee room was crowded when Councilman Steve R. Johnston called the special committee to order. There were present Chairman Johnston, Aldermen Roberts and Hancock, Councilmen Styron and Roberts, Commissioner of Public Works Collier, City Engineer Clayton and Assistant City Engineer W. T. Wilson.

The complaints were about bad sewerage, muddy streets, unpaved sidewalks and bad street pavements.

Will Give Relief.

Chairman Johnston stated to the citizens present that it was the purpose of the committee to hear all complaints and to give as speedy relief as possible. He said that the committee would visit every place complained of. He asked that the people bear in mind one thing, and that was the commissioner of public works had been doing his duty, and he had more work than he could do with the small force of hands and the small appropriation at his disposal.

After hearing all the complaints, the committee adjourned to meet again Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when a lot of written complaints will be read. Later on the committee will take an automobile ride and look at the places in the city complained of.

Alderman Hancock offered his auto for the ride, but stated that he would not promise to take his auto on all the bad streets mentioned, as he had too much respect for his machine.

Among those who made complaints were the following:

Some Work for the County.

B. F. Bennet wanted Crew street put in a better condition where it had been torn up by county wagons when hauling dirt from the excavation at the auditorium-armory site.

W. C. Harkey stated that Ormond street was ankle-deep in mud.

E. A. White and John Bland said that Lumpkin street, between Houston and Highland avenue, was so impassable that the tenants refused to rent houses.

Anthony Murphy complained about the condition of the Broad street wood block pavement between Alabama street and the bridge. He said that water settled on the street.

About Bad Sewerage.

St. Elmo Massengale complained about a portion of Capitol avenue, where bad sewerage overflowed valuable lots.

Several colored people from the fourth and third wards made complaints.

A number of citizens said they did not wish to be known as kickers, but they wanted relief.

COUNTIES WANT CONVICTS AND THEY ASK FOR 1,754

As a means toward familiarizing himself with the work of the prison commission, Captain Wiley Williams, the new commissioner, will undertake a tour of inspection of a number of convict camps in south Georgia.

After conference with the other members of the commission yesterday, this step was decided upon. The tour will begin at an early date. If the commissioner finds anything at the convict camps he visits that does not come fully up to his ideas of what they should be, he will undertake to have them corrected.

The prison commission has secured the services of W. J. Flanders, representative in the last legislature from the county of Johnson, to do some special work. Dr. Flanders will visit a number of counties and confer with the county commissioners in regard to the use of convicts on the roads after April, 1909. The various problems in connection with such work will be gone over in detail.

Every effort is being made by the prison commission to have the good roads plans prove a practical success in every county. To this end the details of the work will be worked out and systematic plans agreed upon. Where the commission can help with advice or suggestions it proposes to do so, in order that costly mistakes may be avoided by the counties which have decided to make a departure and use convicts for improving their public roads.

Active Demand for Convicts.

The applications already received show there will be a land office rush for convicts. The last day for filing applications for this labor is February 10 of each year. Already 46 counties have been heard from. They are demanding, all told, 1,674 convicts. The larger counties, such as Fulton and Chatham and Bibb, have not yet been heard from.

As there will probably not be over 2,500 felony men to dispose of, about one-third of the counties have already demanded two-thirds of the convicts. Fulton or Chatham alone would be willing to take the 900 men not already demanded. When the returns are all in, the convicts will be prorated among the counties wanting them, first in proportion to population, and next the "overs" will be divided.

The Call of the Counties.

The following counties have already sent in their applications. Practically every one has put in a bid for "overs" in addition to their regular quota. The list follows:

BANKER MORSE GETS 15 YEARS

quickly until at 10:30 o'clock there was no vacant seat in the court room and the corridors outside were filled.

Plea Made for Curtis.

The lawyers for the defense had scarcely taken their place within the railing before the court formally opened. Former Judge Olcott, who had represented Curtis in the trial, made a touching appeal for clemency on behalf of his client.

In this appeal he was given the active aid of District Attorney Stimson, who informed the court that he believed justice would be served by suspending sentence in the case of Curtis. After justifying the clemency for Curtis, Judge Hough pronounced sentence upon Morse.

"In the case of Morse there is not much to be said," said Judge Hough. "As in all bank fraud cases, the criminal legality is only part of a larger general scheme. In this case this was to use the bank and the depositors' money for speculative purposes. If such a scheme were permitted to be carried out, the public would be at the mercy of a band of adventurers. I, therefore, sentence you to fifteen years in federal prison at Atlanta, Ga."

When the fate of Morse was pronounced the court room was as still as a church, and the first sound to break in on the quietness was the choking sobs of the prisoner's wife and hurried scuffle of feet as she was led away to an ante-room. Morse followed her, in charge of Marshal Henkel. A moment later the crowd began to move slowly out of the court room. Few of them left the building immediately, however, and when Curtis came out a free man with his wife leaning on his arm, he was given a rousing cheer. The approving shouts followed him all the way down the long corridor, which was lined on either side by men and women.

Morse was taken to the Tombs prison at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

eleventh annual state conference will meet in that city about November 1, 1909.

Mrs. S. B. C. Morgan made a strong talk this morning in behalf of the education of Georgia's mountain children.

This afternoon the Emory college facultyand their wives and the Kilkare Club of Oxford were hosts royal to the Daughters of the American Revolution. Refreshments were served in Candler hall, and the visitors were shown through the college buildings and entertained by a well-trained special gymnasium class of Emory college, which had bee ndrilled especially for their benefit by the athletic director, Professor Nolan A. Goodyear.

Thursday's Meeting.

The morning session Thursday was taken up with various reports which proved interesting. Chapter reports all indicated a prosperous year and a good membership, the total membership in Georgia aggregating 13,007, outside of some members of the state organization who do not now reside in Georgia.

The reports showed much educational work on the part of the Daughters during the past year.

Miss Benning Honored.

Following a talk by the state regent, Miss Caroline Benning, on the suggestion of Mrs. Robert E. Park, of Atlanta, the entire body rose in appreciation of the splendid work on the part of Miss Benning.

Just before the business of the morning session was taken up, a beautiful incident occurred, when some one announced that there was present a chapter regent, Mrs. Virginia Inman Davis, of Hephzibah, Ga., whose seventieth birthday came today. The conference rose in congratulation to Mrs. Davis, and the much-loved old lady was called upon the stage, and in an appropriate manner introduced to the Daughters. Mrs. Davis is a graduate of Wesleyan Female college and regent ofShadrach Inman chapter.

Following the morning session, the United Daughters of the Confederacy charmingly entertained the conference, and the delegates' hostesses at luncheon at the home of Mrs. Eugene O. Lee.

At 3 o'clock the Daughters again assembled and transacted a number of business matters of more or less importance.

Yesterday evening the entire assembly of delegates and their hostesses with other Covington people, attended the lecture on "Panama Canal" given by Claude N. Bennett, at Oxford.

The supreme court, when it convenes today, will begin the call of the cases from the Atlanta circuit on the civil docket.

The case of S. Booth and others against the state, which case grew out of the recent Neal bank failure, will not be called on Monday, as was originally intended. The case has been postponed owing to the inability of Governor Smith to secure another judge to sit on that date in the absence of Judge Lumpkin, who is disqualified by reason of having been a depositor in the defunct bank.

Governor Receives Invitations.

Governor Smith has been invited to attend the dedication exercises of the Martyrs' Monument Association, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and to deliver an address at the exercises to be held on November 14. He has declined the invitation.

The governor has also been invited to attend the cotton conference at New Orleans on November 11 and 12, called by the Farmers' Union, and to deliver an address to the conference on the 12. He has accepted this invitation.

Hon. Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, will also be a speaker on this occasion.

BIG CAPITAL FOR THE GREAT DEVELOPMENT AT UNION CITY, GEORGIA

E. RIVERS, OF ATLANTA, J. H. HARRIS AND J. M. McDONALD, OF FITZGERALD, GEORGIA, BEHIND THE ENTERPRISE

One of the largest deals made in real estate lately was closed not long since when E. Rivers, of Atlanta; J. H. Harris and J. M. McDonald, of Fitzgerald, Ga., bought several hundred acres of land within the incorporate limits of Union City, Ga., including all the property in the business district that was unsold. A big force of hands is at work with modern grading implements preparing the streets for the buildings that will be erected.

A VERY IMPORTANT LOCATION FOR MANUFACTURING ENTERPRISES.

The distance from Atlanta is seventeen miles.

The amount of capital necessary to build an electric line to Atlanta has been subscribed, and civil engineers will locate the line in a few days, when actual construction of the line will commence. This will be a great convenience to the residents of Union City, and will furnish three transportation lines to the balance of the world.

The E. Rivers Realty Company, of Atlanta, has opened a branch office at Union City where all inquiries about property will be answered promptly and full information furnished.

THE OLD AND THE NEW-

The success of modern methods is perhaps more clearly defined in the practice of medicine than in any other line of human endeavor.

For instance: Years ago remedies of various kinds were used in treating consumption, and nine-tenths of the patients died. Today little medicine is prescribed and they recover. The doctors have learned that the best way to combat most ills is by the indirect method of stimulating the body's natural power of resistance. Consumption is much easier to prevent than to cure. Neglect of a common cold is often the starting point of this dread disease.

At the first indication of a cold every effort should be made to check it at once. It is claimed that a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure, mixed with two ounces of Glycerine and a half pint of good Whisky, taken in teaspoonful doses every four hours, will break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable. Get the ingredients separately and mix them yourself.

This formula has been in use for years. It was the favorite remedy of the old mountaineer, who would macerate the shavings of a pine knot in whisky. Modern science has combined the active principles of the Pine and Santalwood trees which is known under the name of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure. This preparation is put up for dispensing only in half-ounce vials, each vial securely sealed in a round wooden case, with an engraved wrapper, showing plainly the name and guarantee of the manufacturer, as follows: Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure, guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30, 1906, Serial No. 451, prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, O.

SONG FEAST AT PIEDMONT

Policemen Will Hold Annual Singing Contest All Day Sunday.

Beginning early tomorrow morning will be held the promised all-day, old-fashioned singing of the singing class and friends of the Atlanta police department. Piedmont park is the place selected, and the old red hills of the park promise to shake with reverberation.

Chief of Detectives E. L. Jett gives out the information that the singers are in good condition, and will furnish a brand of music second to none ever heard in these parts. The organ already selected is said to be supplied with an infinite number of tunes and good staying qualities.

Last Sunday the singers of the force and a number of their friends met at the police station, in the recorder's court room, for the purpose of rehearsing. Sergeant R. J. Brown, Dan Cook and W. F. Harper, the police committee, were well pleased with the renditions.

Many out-of-town guests, as well as residents, will be entertained by the policemen. It is said that a thousand or more people will probably be there during the day.

A dinner of many courses will be served on the grounds.

DOO DANG CANDIDATE TALKS ABOUT ELECTION

"Well, anyhow, John Temple Graves got sixty more votes in Georgia more than I thought he would; I see he got 83 votes in this state," commented Hon. Jasper Newton ("Jack") Smith, the candidate of the "Doo Dang" party, who received one vote on last Tuesday for the presidency, for which he was running as the nominee of that party.

"I told Zeke Cargill, who lives on the other side of Ben Stribbins, on the Paces ferry road, the morning after I read where John T. had said, in one of his songs—I mean speeches—that he was the only Atlanta man ever nominated on a national ticket, that he had she cooked his goose in Georgia.

"You know folks is powerful curious about the way some folks grabs all the glory when there is others more entitled to it than they.

"It was nothin' but resentment pure and simple is the reason they resented this effront at the ballot box.

"Course, Tapp and me didn't care, but it did rile our friends for him, a little vice presidential candidate of a home-made panty, coming here to our town and blowing about he was the only candidate on the national ticket from Atlanta.

"When he knew good and plenty that Tapp was the presidential nominee of the 'liberal party,' organized by Tapp and seven others at Chattanooga, while I was the presidential nominee of the 'Doo Dang' panty, that has, as any one will tell you, the best platform ever written.

"Why, if I had gotten notified of my nomination I would have gotten out electors in Georgia, and I would bet a million ginger pops to a jug of corn that I would have doubled his vote; more than that, I would have got a plurality over him and Tapp, too.

"Why, John ought a known better.

"But back to Bryan. You know I voted for him, and would do it again.

"I am fixing to write to him and send my condolences on his defeat. You know, being a democrat, for the Doo Dangs are all democrats, I am in a position to sympathize with him better than anybody else, for I am the only democrat who ever got beat in the same election and for the same office with him.

"I see where he is not going to run again, but I am not going to speak so dang far in advance of the campaign, for there is no telling what I will doo.

"I have delayed writing to him until the Missouri votes were all settled, to see whether he did not return the compliment and vote for me.

"You know, that vote I got out in Blackhall district is durned lonesome, if you'll excuse the expression.

"But that vote means lots to me. It means that there is one man in the world who thinks I am the biggest man in the United States, and he caused me to beat Tapp in this race, by one vote.

"It was a close shave, but, by Cracky, I beat him, and I wasn't so very far behind John, either."

TRIED TO FOOL POLICE; JUDGE BROYLES SAID $10.75

John Passenger Said Outsiders Hurled Coal Into His Home. He Did It.

Claiming that on Wednesday night some unknown person had maliciously thrown coal into his room and against his house, John Passenger, of 144 South Boulevard, came to Sergeant A. L. Pool Thursday night and requested the officer to protect his place. Passenger's wife also came with him all the way up to Frazier street. Passenger stated that the mischievous person had kept him and his wife awake until 4 o'clock in the morning.

Sergeant Poole told them to go back home and he would send two bicycle officers to the scene. Accordingly Officers Pharr and Webb responded and hid near the place. About two hours they waited without hearing any unusual noise, and then they heard inside the house what they thought was the falling of coal. All was dark in the room of Passenger and his wife, and the officers at first were bewildered.

On examination they found that Passenger himself was the mischief-maker. It is said he would take a lump of coal, throw it high to the ceiling and at the same time remarking to his wife: "There they are now."

Passenger's object could not be understood. In the room next to his apartment were sleeping two other ladies. The officers thought he might have been trying to scare some one from the place. In his overcoat pockets, which he had on when discovered, were found many lumps of coal.

For his fun Passenger was fined $10.75 in the police court yesterday afternoon, in default of which sum he went smiling to the stockade.

Illinois to Dig Canal.

Chicago, November 6.—That Illinois will perform her part in the construction of a lakes-to-the-gulf deep waterway is indicated by the belated returns on the proposition submitted to the people at Tuesday's election to bond the state for $20,000,000 to construct a channel from Lockport, Ill., to Utica, Ill., on the Illinois river. The vote in Cook county (Chicago) was almost five to one in favor of the bond issue and heavy majorities were rolled up in its favor in the river counties. This more than offsets the indifferent attitude of the interior counties, and it is stated that the proposition carried by 75,000, more than half of all the votes cast at the election. As little opposition by the legislature is anticipated to the passage of the deep waterway law, it is stated that by 1915 Illinois will have a 14-foot channel from Chicago to the Mississippi river.

Cabinet Talks of Election.

Washington, November 6.—Today's cabinet meeting, the first held since October 27, was devoted principally to a discussion of the results of the election. Attorney General Bonaparte, Postmaster General Meyer and Secretary Wilson were absent.

HE WENT SHOOTING BIRDS WITH RIFLE IN THE CITY

J. L. Poole Was Fined $25 for Using Firearms in the City Limits.

J. L. Poole was fined $25.75 by the recorder yesterday morning for shooting a rifle in the city limits.

The arresting officer testified that Poole fired his rifle a number of times in West End, and that several of the bullets "whistled over people's heads."

Poole stated that he was shooting at birds, and was out in the woods; he did not know he was in the city limits, and was where people made a practice of shooting birds.

Recorder Broyles told him that it was very dangerous to shoot in the city limits, and that he might kill somebody.

Kansas Bank Closes Down.

Arkansas City, Kan., November 6.—The Citizens and Farmers' State bank closed its doors here today, the first information of its suspension of business being a notice posted on the locked doors of the bank. The notice read: "This bank is closed pending an investigation of its affairs. The bank commissioner has been notified and is in full charge." William A. Wilson, president of the bank, resides in Kansas City, Mo. A. F. Thomassen, the vice president, formerly lived in Hattiesburg, Miss.

Plague Beaten in Manila.

Manila, November 6.—The epidemic of cholera in this city has apparently been stamped out. During a period of thirty hours not a single new case of the plague has been reported. Governor General Smith is conferring with Rear Admiral Sperry regarding the plans for the reception of the fleet and the precaution to be observed to safeguard the sailors during their visits ashore.

Chinese Soldiers Attend Funeral.

Mobile, Ala., November 6.—Fourteen Chinese members of the crew of the British steamer Richmond, now in this port, were allowed to attend the funeral of Ah Ken, a fellow countryman, under guard of detectives. MAYOR'S OPINION OF PROHIBITION

He Answers a Letter Sent to Dr. White.

HOW ATLANTA WOULD VOTE

Mayor Says He Believes City Was Forever Opposed to the Open Saloon, but Would Vote for the Sale of Whisky in Package Houses.

An interesting correspondence passed between Mayor W. R. Joyner and Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist church, recently, in regard to the mayor's views about prohibition in Atlanta.

Dr. White was asked by Fred D. L. Squires, of Chicago, if certain published interviews, about prohibition and credited to Mayor Joyner, were true. Dr. White submitted the letter to Mayor Joyner, and the mayor replied to it.

There have been a number of newspapers which published statements credited to Atlanta's mayor, which were either untrue or were grossly exaggerated.

The correspondence referred to, which will be read with a great deal of interest, is as follows:

Letter to Dr. White.

"Chicago, October 28, 1908.—Rev. John E. White, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sir: Can you tell us whether or not Captain Joyner, mayor of your city, is quoted correctly, or stated the accurate condition of affairs when, in a recent dispatch, he is said to have declared:

"'Prohibition in Atlanta has been a dismal failure. About twice as much intoxicating liquor and beer are now being consumed as ever before. Even drunkenness is largely increased. The people of Atlanta would vote overwhelmingly against prohibition, if they were given a chance.'

"I shall thank you for any information regarding this matter. Very truly yours,

"FRED D. L. SQUIRES, Editor."

Dr. White to the Mayor.

"Atlanta, November 4, 1908.—Hon. W. R. Joyner, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Mr. Mayor: I enclose a letter of inquiry from Fred D. L. Squires, Chicago, which explains itself. I will be glad to reply to it accurately. I had understood that you did not make this statement which he quotes. Please let me hear from you kindly about the simple matter of fact. Sincerely your friend,

"JOHN E. WHITE."

Mayor Joyner's Reply.

Atlanta, November 5, 1908.—My Dear Dr. White: I have your letter of November 4, enclosing a communication from Mr. Fred D. L. Squires under date of October 28.

"The quotation referred to by Mr. Squires has been printed all over the country. There is considerably more to it than he mentions. It is an interview that was faked by some newspaper correspondent, and is based upon my Omaha address. The fakir who concocted this piece of infamy distorted the facts that I gave, and put words into my mouth that I never thought of using.

"I have had letters from all over the country regarding this interview, and to all of them I have replied that the supposed interview with me was a miserable falsehood, written. I suppose, for the purpose of putting a few cents into the pocket of its author.

"I am sending this letter to you in duplicate, in order that you may, if you see fit, send a copy of it to Mr. Squires.

"The only utterance that has come from me regarding the effects of prohibition in Atlanta was delivered by me at Omaha during the convention of the League of American Municipalities. That address was fair, impartial, accurate, and was based upon the figures furnished me by the chief of police, who is, himself, a prohibitionist, and who is a consistent member of the Baptist Tabernacle, of which Dr. L. G. Broughton is pastor. I have no reason to believe that the chief of police falsified his records regarding the effects of prohibition.

"I carefully refrained in that Omaha address from giving any opinion of my own at all with this single exception, that I stated my belief that Atlanta would remain forever opposed to the standing bars, where a man might gulp down a drink of whisky, but that I believed Atlanta would vote for package houses where the people could purchase whisky by the quart for home use.

"At best, that was only a matter of opinion, albeit, an opinion which I still hold, and, I think that fair-minded people must grant me the privilege of holding a private opinion regarding this matter.

"Returning to the matter regarding which you have written me, I gladly take pleasure in stating to you that I have not made the statements quoted by Mr. Squires, and the interview is a miserable fake. You must have noticed that I have not replied to my critics regarding this matter, and I am answering you now because of my high regard for you, and because of the friendly relations that have always existed between us, and which, I am sure, will be continued in the future. Sincerely your friend,

"W. R. JOYNER, Mayor."

AUBURN AND TECH READY FOR FRAY

Both Teams in Great Shape and Confident of Winning.

A Thriller Is Promised for All Who Attend the Game—Chances About Equal for Both as to the Result.

This afternoon, at Ponce de Leon, the football elevens of Tech and Auburn will line up in battle array in their annual game, and another thriller is sure to be the result.

Both teams have been working hard since their defeats on last Saturday, and the men on both sides can now be said to be in the best of shape.

The Auburn team arrived in the city last night at 8 o'clock, and look fit for fray. Full Back Penton, who was hurt in the Louisiana state game, has rounded to, and will be seen in action. He is said to be one of the best plunging full backs that has ever donned the moleskins on a southern college, and his playing has made the polytechnic boys confident they will down the Yellow Jackets.

Tech's last scrimmage work was engaged in on Thursday afternoon, and was most encouraging, the plays being run off with dash and fire, and with deadly effect on the scrubs. Yesterday signal practice was the order of the day, and when the Yellow Jackets line up on the field today it will be with a well-conditioned and determined team.

Who will win the game? No one seems to be able to answer that question. At least, some give one answer and some another, so that a trip to the park will be necessary to decide upon the winner of the fray.

Any way you look at it, there is going to be one of the best games ever played here. Auburn has the most experience, and has a little on weight, but the Yellow Jackets have the speed, and grit—well everyone knows who have seen them play this year, that there never was a grittier team on a southern gridiron.

The writer looks for a close score, with the odds a trifle in Auburn's favor to win the game, but the Polytechnic boys have not any great amount of call on winning the game. One touchdown should win the game.

Here is probably the line-up for the game:

TECH.	Position.	AUBURN.
Emerson	L. E.	Hill
Green	L. T.	Bonner
McPhaul	L. G.	Allen
Spalding	C.	J. G. Davis
Patterson	R. G.	Motley
Means	R. T.	Eslinger
Ayres	R. E.	Reynolds
Robert (Capt.)	Q. B.	(Capt.) McClure
Barnwell	L. H. B.	Hardage
J. R. Davis	R. H. B.	Warren
Ridley	F. B.	Penton

The officials have not yet been definitely determined, although George Butler, of North Carolina, who has been giving such satisfaction at the games already played, will probably be umpire again.

LAST YEAR'S DOPE ON AUBURN-TECH GAME

As Auburn plays Tech here today, some dope on how the teams came out last year, together with the line-up of the teams, may be of interest to the local fans.

Auburn won the game by the score of 12 to 6. Both teams scored in the first half, the score ending 6 to 6. In the second half, McClure, the Auburn quarter back, evade dthe entire Tech team and ran 55 yards for a toucn. down.

The following is the way they lined up:

AUBURN.	Position.	TECH.
Batson	C.	Snyder
Everett	R. G.	Smith
Motley	R. T.	Henderson
Locke, Eslinger	R. T.	J. R. Davis
J. G. Davis	L. T.	Brown
Wilkinson	R. E.	D. Hill
A. Hill	L. E.	Robert
McClure	Q. B.	Buchannan
Sparkman, Reynolds	R. H. B.	Sweet
Warren, Harris	L. H. B.	Fitzsimmons
Hughes	F. B.	Luck

Glancing over the above line-up, one will see that there are ten men in the Auburn line-up who are with the team again this year, while on the Tech line up there are but two. Quite a difference, when the most essential point in football, experience, is considered.

The officials of the game were: George Butler, of North Carolina, referee; Elgin, of Vanderbilt, umpire, and Phillips, of Sewanee, field judge.

INDIANS PLAY CRIMSON TEAM

Other Big Games Booked for the East Today.

The Carlisle Indians-Harvard game should be the chief "big noise" in the east today, and a battle worth going miles to see should be the result. Both teams are in fairly good shape, and with three good goal kickers, the Indians are sure they will give the crimson all they are looking for. Captain Burr is still out of the game, and the kicking of the crimson eleven will fall upon the shoulders of Sprague. Any one who attempts to estimate the result of the game should have a large-sized brainstorm in the doing.

Yale meets the strong Brown eleven and the Elis should be pushed to the utmost to win, although, on form and judging from the bulldog work so far this season, the game should go to the sons of Eli by at least two touchdowns.

Pennsylvania meets a tough nut in the Lafayette eleven, but as the Quakers have about as good an eleven as any in the east this year, they should carry off the plum by at least one touchdown.

Princeton meets Dartmouth, at New York. This strong eleven should give the Tigers, in their crippled condition, about all the work needed to win out. On dope, the Tigers should win by three touchdowns.

Cornell meets the Amherst gridiron warriors at Ithaca, and the red and white moleskin brigade should win with ease. Four touchdowns should prove about the score.

JOHN MEYERS BARRED FROM SEWANEE TEAM

Memphis, Tenn., November 6.—John Meyers, half back on the Sewanee team, has been ruled out for playing summer baseball at Grenada, Miss., under the name of Dobbins. His full name is John Dobbins Meyers. His case has been appealed to the executive committee of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

GEO. STALLINGS LEADS YANKEES

Official Announcement Made by Farrell That Georgian Will Lead Team.

New York, November 6.—Frank J. Farrell, president of the New York Americans, today made the announcement that George T. Stallings will manage his team next year. Stallings was in charge of the Newark Eastern League team last season, and was a stockholder, but it is reported that he has sold his stock in the club and will be connected with Farrell from now on.

The Constitution made the announcement that Farrell would sign Stallings to manage his team next season some time ago, but the report was based only on rumors at the time, but which were well founded.

Stallings is a Georgia boy, born and reared in Augusta, and well known by many of the citizens of the state. He began his professional career in Augusta, and later became manager of the team piloting it to the pennant.

He later went to higher company, and was manager of the Philadelphia National League team, the Detroit American League team, Rochester, Buffalo and Newark Eastern League teams, in the order named, and was successful in getting together a pennant winner.

It is understood that Stallings will have absolute control of the managing end of the Yankees, and the New York baseball fans on the face of this announcement can count on a successful team during the coming season with many new faces.

Stallings is a born leader of men, and one that understands a baseball player and the qualities that go to make up a successful one, and under his guiding hand the Yankees should be up near the top, if not at the top, all the season.

OLYMPIANS PLAY TECH FRESHMEN

As a preliminary to the big game this afternoon, the Tech Freshmen and the Olympians will tie up for their second match of the season, the first half being played before the big game and the second between the halves.

At the last meeting of these two fast teams the score resulted in a tie score, 5-5, and the game today will be in the nature of a "rubber," and for the prep championship of the city.

Both teams have played a couple of games since their last meeting, and both have improved in their playing, and the meeting today is sure to be one to be remembered, and well worth seeing.

TIGERS LEAVE FOR ST. LOUIS

Sewanee, Tenn., November 6.—(Special.)—Henry Phillips, for three years All-Southern lineman and captain of the All-Southern team of 1904, has arrived on the mountain to assist in coaching the Tigers for the rest of the season. It goes without saying that his knowledge of the game will greatly aid the wearers of the purple in their remaining struggles with St. Louis university, Tech, and Vanderbilt.

The Sewanee team is in better condition than at any before this season. Lyne, the crack sprinter, who has been laid up for over a month with a wrenched shoulder, is back in the game, and is showing wonderful form at half. The St. Louisians had better keep a sharp eye on this human avalanche, for, if he ever is given a clear field, it is all over but the touchdown.

The team left today for St. Louis, where the Tigers tackle the toughest proposition of the season, and although the St. Louis squad is much heavier, Coach Van Surdain is confident that his team can give them all they are looking for, and has great hopes of coming off with the honors. After this battle there will be only two games left for the Tigers, that with Tech and Vanderbilt.

New York, November 6.—James E. Sullivan has declared his resignation from the office of president of the National Amateur Athletic Union, which he has held for two terms. Mr. Sullivan was for more than ten years secretary of the union, and has been prominent in amateur athletics for more than twenty-five years. Charles H. Carter, of Boston; Everett O. VANDY AND TENN. BATTLE TODAY

Another big scrap scheduled for the south today is the meeting between Vanderbilt and Tennessee, at Nashville. This should be a tussle from start to finish, with the odds favoring the Commodores to cop the winning by at least two touchdowns.

Tennessee has been working hard since her game with Georgia Tech, and the men are all said to be in the best of shape for the match, and, furthermore, are confident they will win.

A large delegation of rooters will accompany the team to Nashville and cheer the Volunteers toward a winning.

Coach Dan McGugin is saying nothing regarding the game, and when you catch Dan in that mood—well, be on the lookout.

Every one will agree with the writer in picking Vanderbilt to win the game, but, if it is not the Vanderbilt team of old, she will have her hands full with the husky bunch from Knoxville.

Look out for another surprise. Tennessee may cop the winning. Ain't it awful, Mabel?

End of Bookmaking.

Washington, November 6.—What may be the final chapter in the story of the fight against racing in the District of Columbia is recorded in the dismissal by the district court of appeals today of the appeal of William Davis, the New York bookmaker, convicted in the spring of 1906 of setting up a gambling table by making a book at the Bennings race course. Although sentenced to serve two hours in the district jail, it is unlikely that Davis will be brought here to carry out the sentence, as bookmaking apparently is a sport of the past in the district. The Davis case was brought as a test one and a pardon may be applied for.

Gridiron Contest.

Montgomery, Ala., November 6.—(Special.)—The football teams of the University of Georgia and the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, of Auburn, will meet on the local grounds on Thanksgiving day. It is said that both teams are coming with determination to win, and that it will be the greatest game in the history of the state. The line-up will be given in a short time. Following the troubles that are about to grow out of the recent game between L. S. U. and Auburn, the teams will be given a hearty reception.

MANAGER KAHN LEAVES ORPHEUM

Will Remain Here to Erect $150,000 Theater.

VIVIAN WHITTACKER TAKES

Charge of House Next Week—Weber & Rush Deny Any Connection With a New Theater in This City.

Manager Ben Kahn, of the Orpheum theater, has tendered his resignation, to take effect Saturday night. He will remain in Atlanta, however, to build a new vaudeville theater at the corner of Luckie and Forsyth streets.

Manager Kahn was seen last night at the Kimball, and he made the following statement:

"I have resigned as manager of the Orpheum theater, the resignation to take effect Saturday night. I will not leave Atlanta, because my time will be taken up in running the new theater being built at the corner of Luckie and Forsyth streets. I could not consistently remain the employee of Weber & Rush and at the same time run another house. In all fairness to them and everybody else, I, therefore, tendered my resignation. I have entered into an agreement to build a new theater at the corner of Forsyth and Luckie streets. It will be opened September 1, 1909. The building will be 100x135, and cost $150,000. There will be nine stories, with offices in the front, a roof garden on top, and a rathskeller in the lower floor. I will run a strictly up-to-date vaudeville house, having secured bookings from the William Morris circuit."

BEN KAHN,
Who Has Resigned as Manager of the Orpheum.

Mr. Kahn came to Atlanta over a year ago to take charge of the Orpheum theater, under the direction of Weber & Rush. As manager of the playhouse he has made numbers of friends, who will be glad to hear that he intends to remain in the city, but regret very much to hear that he will not be connected with the Orpheum for the rest of the season. It has been due entirely to the energetic efforts of Mr. Kahn that the Orpheum has been made a "go." From the time he came to Atlanta until the present date, he has devoted his entire time and efforts to the upbuilding of a fine vaudeville house for this city. His new project, however, eclipses all of his past efforts, and next season there promises to be here one of the best theaters in the south under his directorship.

Vivian Whitaker, from Canada, will take charge of the theater next week.

Weber & Rush's Statement.

"Weber & Rush, the proprietors of the Orpheum, did not intend to, nor have they ever had, an idea of running another theater in this city," stated Mr. Mannist, of the Weber & Rush Company, last night.

Mr. Mannist, who represents the Weber & Rush people, arrived in the city yesterday direct from New York. He said that his firm knew nothing of any plans to run an opera house on Luckie street, near the Piedmont hotel, as recently published, until the affair was called to the attention of the head office. Regarding the publication, he said:

"We have no intentions to have any new theaters, and don't want anything whatsoever to do with any other organization. We have eight more years to run the Orpheum, and we have no idea of operating a new house in this city—one is enough. We could not run any new attractions in Atlanta, because the town has the four big circuits represented here. The Grand has Klaw & Erlanger's bookings o fall the high-priced shows; the Lyric, Stair & Havlin's popular-priced shows; the Bijou, the Columbian Amusement Company's extravaganzas, and the Orpheum the Keith & Proctor, United Booking Company and Hammerstein's bookings. A new theater would have no place to go to book new attractions. Anyway, I understand a hospital is to be built next to the theater building. Weber & Rush would not run a house next to an infirmary."

ALL DISHONEST INTERESTS GIVEN WARNING BY TAFT; HONEST MEN IN NO DANGER

Cincinnati, Ohio, November 6.—Speaking to the Cincinnati Commercial Club, of which he has been a member for 15 years, William H. Taft brought every member of the club to his feet in his address, sounding the keynote of prosperity for the country for the next four years.

"Every business man who is obeying the law may go ahead with all the energy in his possession, every enterprise which is within the statutes may proceed without fear of interference from the administration, when acting legally; but all interests within the jurisdiction of the federal government may expect a rigid enforcement of the laws against dishonest methods," was the keynote of what Mr. Taft said.

The speech which Mr. Taft delivered here tonight created a profound sensation among the substantial business men of the city, who are members of the club, which gave him the dinner, which had been arranged long before the result of the election could be known, and they arose as one man to the sentiments he expressed.

Judge Taft told, in a way which no one has written, of the human side of his campaign.

"I have been the subject of a coterie of bosses," he declared with the greatest good humor, "which the demands of left me no duty but to respond to the calls from 6 o'clock in the morning to midnight to the calls of the populace—and if I did not respond, the crowd, after one minute, made a mighty shout 'Hurrah for Bryan.'"

In beginning, Mr. Taft admitted that it might not have been so easy to smile tonight if the telegrams of congratulations which passed between Lincoln and Cincinnati today had been originated in this city instead of the home of the Great Commoner.

"Seriously," he declared, "the indications are already apparent, and the hopes which I entertain are that the business communities and the investors of both foreign nations and among our people will take heart in carrying out the great enterprises which have been projected and which must be carried to a determination if the country is to reach its full meed of prosperity and business attending.

"Business men are to be shown the lines of legality, which lines have been emphasized during the last four years. Business men shall know that they are to conform to the laws upon the statute books, and that no favors are to be expected for those who break the laws.

"This shall be so that the man who conducts a legitimate business may understand that the government is back of them and does not intend to do anything to interfere with their legitimate advancement."

After the applause which met this declaration had subsided, Judge Taft added: "It is a question of definite knowledge of the statutes and of their close understanding which shall make the honest progress of our business possible. And that is, in my belief, all that is necessary to make that progress substantial and enduring"

Judge Taft apologized for directing his words into such a serious discussion.

"I know the difficulties that will arise in my new career," Judge Taft added, "I know that there will be questions which will arise that I do not know of now, and that times will come when many of my friends here will shake their heads and say, 'Poor Bill,' but all I ask is for suspension of judgment until the situation may be understood. Its decision will rest upon the principles of sound and honest business policies which I have outlined and its intricacies may be ascertained and applied. These details will, I am sure, explain what may appear to be errors of judgment and mistakes."

FIRST PRIZE WON BY BARTOW

Was Successful at the Fair Held at Macon---Worth County Second.

Brown House, Macon, Ga., November 6.—(Special.)—The Bartow county exhibit at the Georgia state fair won first prize today. The people of that county who have been deeply interested in the results were made happy when the announcements were made this afternoon on the fair grounds at Central City park. The showing made by Bartow county was, according to common opinion, one of the prettiest and most complete ever made. Every article was new and artistically presented in the hall where the exhibit was assigned.

Worth county came second. Mrs. Monk, of near Sylvester, was in charge of the exhibit here. She had a fine exhibit in Atlanta, and took a prize there. On finding that she could not use the same display for the Macon fai ron account of rulings of the state agricultural society, she hurried home after the Atlanta fair and arranged a new one for Macon. In the shore time she had she made a remarkable showing, and as a result she takes off a premium of $750. Bartow got the cash prize of $1,000 for the first place.

Bibb Came Third.

Third prize of $500 was won by Bibb county. This was an exhibit arranged by President Ben Jones and other frieds interested in a show for the home county. It was easily the best this county has had in Macon for many years. There were people who wondered why Bibb county did not take the first prize, but the judges had other ideas and went accordingly. This was a large, artistically arranged exhibit that carried olmost every conceivable article of the Georgia growth.

Spalding county won fourth place in the arrangement with regard to merit, and Camden came fifth. The last was Baldwin. These won prizes of $200, and not a one of them was poor. There was no better display or exhibit in a winning county here in former years than in the three that took last prizes this time, so well arranged and so complete were they.

R. C. Durden, of Bibb county, and B. D. Lumsden, of Bibb, took first and second prizes, respectively, for individual displays. These were little farming worlds themselves, and afforded wonderful illustrations of the resources even in the small Georgia farms.

The announcement is made today that the finances have been sufficient to meet all expenses. President Jones will not be called upon to go into his private cash. On Monday every account will be paid with the cash. Tomorrow the gate admission will be run down to 25 cents, and it will be a "go-as-you-please' program. No formal ceremonies will mark the day, and the sights will all be there untoched by those who intend to carry away the property. It will be closing day, but the fun and amusements will remain till a late hour Saturday night, and then the state fair for the present year will be closed.

He was taken to his home on Park Place, where medical treament soon relieved his suffering. He will be required to demain indoors a long time.

Cripple Burned to Death.

Macon, Ga., November 6.—(Special.)—Isabel Godson, an ante-bellum negro woman who resided alone in a dingy little room on Franklin street, was burned to death last night in some manner unknown to those who lived near her. She had been a sufferer from rheumatism a long time and was sometimes helpless. She was in the cottage alone when neighbors saw smoke issuing from the place. It was soon discovered that her clothing had taken fire and she was burned to a crisp, death following immediately.

PRESBYTERIANS ARE IN SESSION

One Hundred and Fifty Elders Gather at Athens.

MANY ABLE ADDRESSES MADE

Athens, Ga., November 6.—(Special.)—The Synod of Georgia is now in session in this city. One hundred and fifty elders of the Presbyterian church of the state are attending. The session is one of the best ever held in Georgia. The discussion of the Sunday school question has been one of the features of the session. Addresses were made by Rev. H. C. Hammond of Atlanta, Rev. J. B. Carpenter of Richmond, and Rev. W. Moore Scott of Savannah.

Rev. Homer McMillan, of Atlanta, made an address on "Home Missions." The report of the Presbyterian hospital in Atlanta showed a splendid work being done there. It was recommended that the churches take up a special collection for this institution the second Sunday in February.

The address of Dr. W. P. Jacobs, president of the Thornwell orphanage, was intensely interesting. He told of the work of that institution, where 250 children are being cared for. He stated that Georgia led all other states in contributions to its support.

Dr. Henry Louis Smith, president of Davidson college, made a strong address in behalf of denominational colleges, but emphasized the point that a parent should never send his son to a college simply because it was a denominational college, but should send him to the college offering him the best advantages. For that reason he pleaded for a more generous support to the denominational colleges if they would keep abreast of the state institutions.

Rev. George E. Guille, of Augusta, gave a Bible reading this morning which was quite interesting and helpful.

VETERANS DONATE $500 FOR U. D. C., CONVENTION

The Atlanta camps of the United Confederate Veterans have generously contributed $500 to the Atlanta chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, to assist in defraying the expenses necessary upon the meeting here next week of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The gift was made Thursday at the regular meeting of the chapter, when Mr. W. H. Harrison, representing the veterans, made a brief, but eloquent, talk, expressing the cooperative spirit of the veterans in any activity in which the Daughters of the Confederacy are participants.

Enthusiastic appreciation was expressed by the Daughters, and a rising vote of thanks given.

Mrs. E. A. Werner, president of the Atlanta chapter, who presided at the meeting yesterday, made several announcements pertaining to the social program arranged for the general convention next week, but the official program for the entire convention was not given out.

The announcements, beside those pertaining to social functions, were, that the Piedmont hotel would be headquarters for the convention; that in the auditorium of the new Cable Piano building the various sessions of the convention would be held, and that the first session would be on Wednesday.

The president requested all members who could conveniently do so to call at the Piedmont hotel Tuesday evening and meet informally visitors who may have arrived.

Regrets were expressed when announcement was made of the resignation of Miss Lida Field, historian of the chapter, whose resignation comes on account of a prolonged illness.

On motion of Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, Mrs. Harry Ellis was appointed as custodian of a chapter registry book during the convention.

In this book, which will be in the auditorium, where the general sessions will be held, delegates will be requested to inscribe their naines, the chapters to which they belong, and their address while in Atlanta.

Mrs. E. L. Connally suggested that the members of the chapter use their influence to have the merchants of the city decorate during the convention, as a compliment to the distinguished visitors.

NEGRO TAKES $30 FROM HOUSE

Miss Annie Hetzel, of 62 West Fifth street, was robbed of her purse and about $30 early Thursday night just after she had placed it in the parlor of her home and had left the room. A little negro girl told Miss Hetzel she had seen a young mulatto negro, about 18 years old, take the purse.

Miss Hetzel notified the police of the theft, and Bentley and Norris, call officers, made an investigation. They failed to find a clue as to the identity of the thief, and up to an early hour this morning he was still at large.

Miss Hetzel had just come in from the city on the street car, and had walked from her car at the corner of West Fifth and West Peachtree streets to her home. She stated to the officers that the negro might have noticed her carrying the handbag, and followed her. Several of the residents in the neighborhood saw the negro running in the direction of the woods just beyond Miss Hetzel's home.

The Cheapest Way.

"That tobacco ye're smokin' hae a richt bonnie smell, Wullie," said the Caledonian tradesman.

"Aye!" assented Willie. "An' it's guid tobacco and cheap. In fact, I get it cheaper than the tobacconist hissel'."

"Hoots, mon!" exclaimed the knowing tradesman. "That's an impossibeelity! Ye canna' get it cheaper than the tobacconist hissel'! It isna likely."

"Aye, but I do," asserted Willie, lowering his voice. "Ye see, there happens to be a brither o' my ain wife's in the shop!"

MOULTRIE MAN IS ASSAULTED

Moultrie, Ga., November 6.—(Special.)—C. F. Williams was Wednesday night fired upon, knocked down and beaten by unknown parties. The cause of the attack is unknown.

The parties, three or four in number, were prowling around the bed room of Mr. Williams most of the night, trying to break in. When ordered off, they refused to go.

While on the veranda next to the bed room of Mr. Williams, trying to make eqtrance, Mr. Williams opened the door and fired several shots at the parties, who in turn knocked him down and beat him. They fired ten or fifteen shots at him as he escaped back in his room.

Two Escapes Were Captured.

Macon, Ga., November 6.—(Special.)—W. J. Musselwhite, of Cordele, brought John Bishop and W. F. Conken, two white escaped convicts, back to the Bibb county chaingang this morning. There is one more of the four who escaped two weeks ago now at large, and the officers believe they will soon have him. Three have been returned after having been captured. The men escaped by boring through the floor with a brace and bit they secured by some means.

HOW BAND OF MERCY BOUGHT NOTED FOUNT

Here is the story of the Fount—the Fount over which city officials have so long wrangled:

Editor of The Constitution—Dear Sir: There has been so much prominence during the last few months given the drinking fountain, now at Peachtree street and North avenue, and presented to the city by the Alpha Band of Mercy, that we thought your readers would be interested in knowing something of its history.

In the fall of 1905, the children whose names are given below, joined themselves together in what was afterwards called by the American Humane Society the Alpa Band of Mercy. It was called Alpha because it was thought to have been the first thing of the kind in Atlanta. Several bazars and entertainments were given by the band of mercy to raise the money needed to buy a drinking fountain for men, horses and dogs. About $100 was raised in this way and to this sum was added by the parents of some of the members enough to make up $117, the price of the fountain. It was ordered from the J. L. Mott Iron Works and was sent to Atlanta to the department of public works. Permission was gotten from the city council to set up the fountain at some place to be specified by it and water was promised free by the water board.

But the fountain lay near the city hall for a long time and nothing was done about it for over two years. It was said that no good place could be found to put it. The lamp that went with it got lost and it looked as if the fountain would never be used. Then Alderman Curtis became interested and had the council to appropriate $25 to have the fountain erected. It was then turned over to the water department. At last it appeared with a new lamp at the corner of Peachtree street and North avenue. The members of the Alpha Band of Mercy, after working so hard and waiting so long were very much pleased to see the fountain up at last and liked its location and would be very glad to see it stay where it is. Of course, if it is objectionable it will have to be moved, but we hope it will be given as good a location and that it will not again be overlooked and nearly lost, as it was before.

Yours respectfully,
ELLEN McDOWELL WOLFF,
President.

TWO DIRECTORS ELECTED BY ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

J. C. Greenfield and J. T. Rose Added to Board at Recent Meeting.

The directors of the Associated Charities of Atlanta held an enthusiastic meeting Wednesday night. J. C. Greenfield and J. T. Rose were elected to fill the vacancies on the board of directors. Mr. Greenfield has long been deeply interested in the charities of the city, and Mr Rose is prominently connected with the Atlanta Steel Company.

The time for holding the annual meeting of the association was changed from the second week in November to the second week in January. Announcement was also made that on the second Sunday in January, the annual mass meeting which has always been a great red letter day, would be held.

Secretary J. C. Logan made a short statement of the present status of the society's various activities, showing among other things that every day the society is dealing with an average of forty-four different families.

The following members of the board were present: T. D. Longino, president; L. C. Hopkins, W. O. Foote, Hugh M. Willett, V. H. Kriegshaber, R. L. Foreman, G. H. Brandon, David Woodward, H. L. Crumley, David Marx, Louis J. Elsas, H. L. Schlesinger, R. J. Guinn, W. G. Raoul and J. C. Logan.

Hard colds, hard coughs, severe bronchitis, weak throats, weak lungs. We wish you would ask your doctor if he knows of anything better for these troubles than Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Head Aches?

"One Bottle of Cardui" writes Luther Guthrie, of Beaufort, N. C.: "did my wife more good than anything else she had taken for ten years past. She had suffered with the headache for ten (10) years and I had spent Three Hundred Dollars ($300) for doctors bills for her, but nothing did her any good. I had read about Cardui for years back, but never tried it until last October, when I decided to give it to my wife. Now she has taken two bottles and it has done her two thousand dollars worth of good. Just as long as it is made, I shall have Cardui in my home."

Everybody knows what Cardui is. It is a medicine for women. Thousands read about it every day, but many are like Mr. Guthrie—they don't think to try it themselves.

Don't wait. Try Cardui today. It has done others so much good, it must have real merit behind it. It will help you. All druggists sell Cardui, with full directions for use.

AN UNWARRANTED SPECIAL PRIVILEGE.

There has been widespread amazement and condemnation on the part of the press of the country as the result of The Constitution's exposure of the extensive use, particularly by republican political committees in the recent campaign, of the congressional frank for the purpose of circulating through the mails free of cost partisan political literature.

Some others have taken it as a matter of course and, while condemning it, replied, "Oh, yes, both parties do it. What is there to stop them?"

In the first place, the spirit and purpose of the law extending the franking privilege, even if it is lacking in the letter, and in the next, a general sense of right and decency ought to prove sufficient deterrent, though it is evident they have not.

There is only one thing that is going to stop the abuse: CONGRESSIONAL ENACTMENT ABOLISHING THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE, OR CONFINING IT SOLELY TO THE ORIGINALLY INTENDED PURPOSE, THE MAILING OF PURELY CONGRESSIONAL MATTER TO THE CONGRESSMAN'S CONSTITUENTS WITHIN THE BORDERS OF HIS OWN DISTRICT.

Congress owes it as a duty to the nation to make impossible the future circulation through the mails free of cost of partisan political documents.

There is no telling how many thousands of pounds of republican campaign literature of the most caustic and partisan nature were circulated free through the mails under the frank of Congressman H. C. Loudenslager, of New Jersey, secretary of the republican congressional campaign committee.

It may also have been done, as is claimed, by the democrats. If it was, it did not come to our attention. Unquestionably, however, the republicans were responsible for the most flagrant and outrageous abuse of the congressional franking privilege.

It is morally wrong and it ought to be made legally wrong.

If it is right and proper, why should the republicans or any other party pay any postage at all for the circulation of partisan campaign documents?

All that would be necessary is to make them part and parcel of the congressional record by asking "leave to print," and the congressional frank does the rest.

And so the people are called upon to pay, whether they will or not, hundreds of thousands of dollars of campaign expenses, while the annual deficit of the postoffice department is piled up accordingly.

While abuses like this are permitted, there can be no possible hope of the achievement of penny postage, which is an ultimate hope of the people.

It should be the first duty of congress upon its assembling in December to apply the remedy to this evil.

If the congressional frank is to be continued at all, it should be severely limited to the law's intent—the mailing of purely official documents to a congressman's own constituents.

There should be no temporizing, no leaving of loopholes for future violations; the public will be satisfied with nothing less than a plain, outright declaration that will effectually end the abuse.

And if it does not come now, future candidates for congress will have to put promise of it in their platform declaration or suffer the consequences at the hands of the electorate.

MR. BRYAN AND THE SENATE.

It is unfortunate that Nebraska has no vacancy in the United States senate and will not during the life of the legislature which has just been elected.

If the opportunity offered, following upon the heels of Mr. Bryan's splendid victory in his home state, always normally republican, it cannot be questioned that the mutual honors of senatorial representation would have fallen both to the state and the man.

In the meantime it will be hoped that the next two years will not bring reversion; that Mr. Bryan will hold the Nebraska ground so well won, and that the succeeding legislature, as democratic as that just chosen, will place him in the nation's foremost legislative body.

Mr. Bryan would prove not alone an interesting and commanding figure in the senate; he would make one of the ablest, most vigorous and most powerful of national legislators; of unquestioned honesty and integrity, what he might say and do would carry national weight and impel national confidence.

Possibly there is not today among all Americans a man more entitled to or better fitted for a seat in the senate of the United States.

Although defeated, he emerges from the presidential compaign in higher personal esteem of the national citizenship than he has yet occupied.

He has left lasting impress upon national policies and even national laws. Public sentiment has responded as he has pointed out remedies for national evils, and a republican administration has responded to public sentiment.

His unquestioned honesty and sincerity and the earnestness and vigor with which he fought for all that he believed right, won for him the admiration of those who differed with him upon questions of national policy.

Nebraska owes it to the nation to give Mr. Bryan to the senate.

He is a great national character, the true type of representative of the people's interests.

There he could give to the public service the best of his intellect and effort—a service that would mean positive advancement of the public good.

Given to the senate by Nebraska, Mr. Bryan would attain an eminence which it has been permitted to few Americans to reach, and which might be well denominated "senator-at-large from the United States."

PRESBYTERIAN HOSPITAL ENDANGERED.

The Presbyterians of Atlanta have been called to meet at the First Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon to decide the fate of the Presbyterian hospital.

The splendid charity work this institution has done in a quiet, unheralded, Christian way has led to a serious deficit in its finances.

Deficits cause dissension, impaired usefulness and loss of enthusiasm.

As a money-making proposition, the hospital could have proven an unbounded success. Its records of patients treated is unquestioned proof of this. But it was established primarily to do charity work. The care of patients who were able and willing to pay was made secondary.

With receipts from all sources of less than $16,000, the hospital since its establishment has done charity work that at regular rates would have brought in $30,000. The deficit now is only $6,000—reduced to this by profits from the pay patients.

It is inconceivable that so worthy a charity should be allowed to fail for lack of support. The lack of ostentation, publicity and display which has marked its operation must be set down as the main cause of its financial embarrassment.

A thorough reorganization of the hospital will no doubt be authorized at Sunday's meeting.

The Presbyterians of Atlanta, who are among the most progressive, substantial and charitable elements in the city's population, will not permit such a deserving institution to close its doors.

It is south Georgia's time to blush and make her best bow for this editorial indorsement in The Florida Times-Union:

South Georgia has advanced rapidly along industrial and agricultural lines in the last few years. The basis of the prosperity of this section of Georgia has been agricultural. Blessed with a rich soil and a mild climate, the south Georgians have made the plow bring forth riches. Railroads and manufactures have been attracted by the growing wealth of these people and the future promises continued increment of that wealth.

We made a note of the fact that Cannon promised, in the event of Taft's election, the tariff would be revised in ninety days; but that's a ninety-day note on which they are sure to ask an extension of time.

The word "h—l" may not be so luminous as formerly in Editor Watterson's forthcoming editorials, unless, in summing up, he should say they gave us that.

Novelist Chambers says there are "a million stories waiting to be written," but he reassures his readers by adding that he doesn't intend to write them all.

Church Spreads Tuberculosis.

San Francisco, November 6.—Tuberculosis spread through a rite of their church, is said to be thinning the population of the Aleutan islands at an alarming rate. Dr. Robert Olsen, of the revenue cutter McCulloch, which arrived yesterday from Alaska, states that 40 per cent of the natives of the island are inflicted with consumption. He expressed the belief that the ceremony of kissing the dead is in part responsible for the spread of the disease.

The Town of Tribulation—
Raise around it—high—a wall!
Hide it from the travelers
That have heard the summits call!
But if there you still would linger,
Stake it off an' take it all,
An' we'll walk the brighter highway to the mornin'!

Humor Under Difficulties.

Here is a story of humor in a grim situation:

"At the time of a big flood a grocer, to whom one of the citizens of an ill-starred community had owed for an overlong time a good-sized bill for provisions, while floating along on the top of the waters in a raft made of two window blinds and a skylight, caught sight of his delinquent debtor whirling around in one of the pools of the eddying current clinging to a large hogshead.

"'Ah, there you are!' cried the grocer, business-like to the last. 'Been looking for you for several days. When are you going to pay that bill?'

"'Can't say just now, old man,' returned the unhappy debtor. 'I'm having all I can do to keep my head above water these times.'"

"The Old Land Lives."

In cheerful, ringing song the Bentztown Bard assures us that there's life in the old land yet:

"The old land lives, and it always will;
It's a good land now, as it always was,
When the harvest sings in the far blue hill
Or the May bloom bursts where the wild bees buzz:
The old land lives in the hearts that love it,
With the star-sown field of its flag above it,
A land of dew and a land of dawn,
With the old, old habit of going on!"

"I know it," replied the landlord, "but you ain't at the biggest hotel in the city at this here present time, an' yer case is different; besides, it took me two nights to ketch that 'possum, an' by bein' up so late I likewise ketched the devil when I come home, an' it's my consideration that ef my time an' feelin's ain't wuth $2, they ain't wuth 2 cents!"

AS SEEN BY SOUTHERN PAPERS.

(From The Nashville Banner.)

Mr. Bryan had, perhaps, his best opportunity in the election of this year. He was supported by all the democratic leaders, as a rule, and yet a great mass of democrats did not come to his support, as is evidenced in a number of states that have elected democratic governors, but have given their electoral votes to Taft. The conclusion is irresistible that the radical views entertained by Mr. Bryan drove a great number of conservative democratic voters from his support. Many democrats who have the highest respect and admiration for Mr. Bryan personally, and the kindest regard for him, felt impelled to vote against him, or voting for him, were ready to be easily reconciled to his defeat.

(From The Knoxville Sentinel.)

There are two elements within the democratic party, and they haven't learned to keep house together. The old differences—differences largely of feeling and of prejudice—still persist, and are powerful. It was hoped that the antagonism to Bryan engendered in the two fierce campaigns of '96 and 1900 had largely disappeared; that the active support of suchmen as Harmon of Ohio, Olney of Massachusetts, and Watterson, of Kentucky, signified a reunion of the discordant elements. But it was not so.

And the situation today is that if a democrat of the Cleveland type were nominated four years from now, he would encounter the same fate.

We must wait for time to heal the wounds and for the divided elements to grow together.

(From The New Orleans Times-Democrat.)

Probably the greatest surprise was the failure of the organized labor vote to cut the figure that had been so confidently expected in some quarters. For all practical purposes, Mr. Gompers and his federation officers might better have refrained from participation in the fight. In most of the states where organized labor was supposed to be strongly for Mr. Bryan, it is fairly plain that the labor vote was largely cast for his opponent, who ran surprisingly well in the cities and the great manufacturing centers. In the net, the support of organized labor apparently not only failed Mr. Bryan, but it probably alienated the support of certain elements antagonistic to Mr. Gompers and his federation. The attempt to create class feeling, to lead men to vote by trades or professions rather than in obedience to the dictates of their individual reason and conscience, is hardly to be commended. All political parties have been flagrant offenders in this regard, and no party has sinned more persistently or flagrantly than that headed by Mr. Taft.

For the rest, there is every reason to believe that Mr. Bryan will witness during the next administration the triumph of certain of the reforms advocated by him, as he has in the past.

(From The Mobile Register.)

It will be asked, What next? The answer is not difficult, but the accomplishment is very much so. Democracy, if too radical to command the confidence of the public, must become less radical; in fact, must return to its old-time conservatism. It must give promise of a more stable government and more prosperous times than the opposing party can give; offering measures that will be of immediate effect upon the economic conditions of the country and imperilling no legitimate interest anywhere; it must remove from the public mind the apprehension that it is to run amuck with the business of the country if placed in power to do so; it must by its platform, as well as by the conservatism of its candidates, reassure the people, convincing them that the success of democracy means increased general prosperity—not remote but immediate.

Unfortunately for such program, the party, in beating about for measures likely to attract support from this, that and the other quarter, has well-nigh compromised all its old principles, and it has formed alliances that cannot be dismissed instanter upon making the discovery that they are not potent for victory at the polls. For example, a party professing allegiance to Jeffersonian doctrines had no business to associate itself with any class or promise to promote class legislation; yet, having done so, it will not be an easy thing to turn back and resume the old and safe position. In truth, the tendency will naturally be the other way—and toward greater departure from the true course and in the direction of greater radicalism, forcing conservative people out of the party and making them either non-participants in politics or driving them into the opposing party.

The drift has been steadily in that direction for some years despite two other defeats in national elections, and, at last, the party has met with its third defeat, and it is a disaster. We have stood by the ship until the end and participate in the sorrows of the shipwreck. We doubt if the materials that are left are worth reassembling, but time will tell, and we shall wait and see. Of one thing we are sure: that the rebuilding of the ship on right lines from the salvage, will be extremely difficult, and that it may be easier to throw away the old and begin anew as the makers of our constitution did when they found the articles of confederation inadequate to the need of the republic.

Hawkinsville Votes for Bonds.

Hawkinsville, Ga., November 6.—(Special.)—Hawkinsville Wednesday voted for the issuance of $15,000 bonds for the purpose of installing an up-to-date electric light plant. The city has had lights all the while, but they have been furnished by the cotton mills. The vote stood 157 majority.

Steps will be taken at once to perfect all plans for the enlarged new system.

GEORGIA PRESS ON RESULT

Must Look Forward.

(From The Dublin Times.)

We must turn our faces resolutely forward, desperately resolved to fight the common enemy more bitterly in the future than we have in the past. The power of money must be broken, and the only way to break it is for the elements opposing the republican party to get together and make its overwhelming defeat a common cause.

Must Reorganize.

(From The Royston Record.)

Nationally the democratic party is dead, and it is up to the combined forces of the south and the west to organize a political party to combat the money-mad, office-seeking, plutocracy of the east.

The Hamiltonians, under the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt, are in the saddle, and where it will end only God knows.

In the Background Long Enough.

(From The Savannah News.)

It will be three years or more before another campaign is inaugurated, but when it is there will be a very strong sentiment in the democratic party of the south in favor of nominating a southern man, and there are good reasons for thinking it will be a sentiment that will find approval in the north and west. The south has stood in the background long enough and allowed the north and west to dominate the party.

An Impossible Situation.

(From The Savannah Press.)

For forty years the south has allowed its northern associates to select the candidates for president and vice president. It has shown a thoroughly national spirit, and unselfish and patriotic motive throughout. And yet everything that she touches has been repudiated by New York and New England and by the larger states of the middle west. Twice in the last four years has it been beaten with the big stick, and now it is asked to get up, rub its head and fall in with the men who have done the clubbing. The situation is an impossible one.

May Lead to New Alliances.

(From The Albany Herald.)

It seems useless for what is left of the democratic party to continue to struggle with the old republican party in popular elections for control of the government, and it may be that, recognizing this stubborn fact, however distasteful it may be, our democratic leaders will seek alliance with such interests at the north and middle west as are suffering from the consequences of republicanism, and leave the old democratic ship in the hope of building a more formidable craft to launch against the hordes of predatory wealth and impending imperialism before it is too late.

Believed Wrong—But It Hurt.

(From The Cordele Rambler.)

The election is over, and the people have shown that they were afraid to risk Mr. Bryan; we believe that Mr. Bryan would have given the country a good administration, but the financial stringency was at such a high tension over the country, and the republican leaders made such promises of returning prosperity in the event of Taft's election, that the people decided to give them another trial.

It is estimated that about fifty white men voted for Judge Taft in Cordele; most of them were conservative business men, it is believed, who did it because they believed that the election of Bryan would disturb business.

The Gompers Feature.

(From The Savannah News.)

And there are people who would like to know whether Mr. Gompers helped or hurt the cause of Mr. Bryan. He certainly doesn't seem to have control of the labor vote. Doesn't he pretend to have more influence with labor than he really has? Two years ago he tried to defeat Littlefield, of Maine, and he failed. This year he let it be known that he was going to turn the labor vote against Speaker Cannon in the latter's district and defeat him. He made a great show of doing something, but the labor vote doesn't appear to have been cast against Cannon.

It Is "Slavery," Says Shipp.

(From The Cordele Rambler.)

The Atlanta Constitution has a timely editorial on the subject of the south being no longer a voting machine and political asset of the northern democracy. Well, we hope that The Constitution is right, and that the south will no longer be an asset that can be moved around by the northern leaders. We of the south should certainly cut loose from their leadership. We can if we wish remain solid, but when it comes to national politics, we should support that national party that offers justice and encouragement to the south.

We must rebel against such slavery; we should either form a new southern party or divide up, if we are to expect any recognition.

Another Thing to Learn.

(From the Valdosta Daily Times.)

Another thing democrats must learn is to make their party in the legislation at Washington something more than a party of obstruction. When a good measure comes up from the republican side of the house and they form in battle array against it they put themselves in a bad light before the voters of the country. It is well enough to draw party lines, but they should not be drawn so tight as to make Democrats favor every idiocy that the republicans oppose or make them oppose every piece of wisdom that the republicans approve. Democrats must quit their foolishness or they will have trouble in keeping the solid south in line four years hence. They must become safe and sane.

Time to Stop Swallowing Everything.

(From The Columbus Ledger.)

The name democracy has a charm for the great majority of southern people and many times planks are inserted in the democratic platforms that are not democratic, but the south takes them cum grano salis, so to speak, and votes for the nominee out of respect for the traditions of the party. Such was the case in this most recent presidential election; such has been the case in other elections in the past.

But, however this may be, results indicate that the American people will not accept democracy as taught by the present day leaders; that the socialistic tendencies are repugnant to sane American electors, and that the great majority are willing to bear with the ills which beset them rather than fly to dangers they know not of.

But of the future: The time is ripe for the reorganization and combination of all the forces opposing the administration with a view of holding the administration within the limitations of the constitution of the United States and forcing it under fear of certain defeat, to institute the reforms to which it is pledged rather than with a view of electing officials from the ranks of the opposition when there is not sufficient cause for a change. Let the new party be what it should be in its politico-economic relations to the country, a check on the party in power to prevent abuses of the power intrusted to it. If need be, let the name, democracy, take its place among the traditions of the past, alongside of federal, whig and other names and let a new name be adopted more suitable for the combined opposition. This will insure the carrying out of the pledges made by the republican party and lasting, substantial good will accrue to the nation.

People of the south, what will you do with this suggestion?

Too Much Scattering.

(From The Wrightsville Chronicle.)

So far as the south is concerned, since a republican had to be the next president, we feel more content that that republican is to be Judge Taft, than if some other or any other republican had been selected. He is big enough, and we hope and believe, brave enough, to be president of the entire United States, regardless of party and regardless of section.

The democratic party discredited itself by loading its platform with birdshot, as it were, and gunning for every variety of game within the scope of the horizon, and lost by only winning the birds, and hogging the animals, instead of selecting a minie ball and making a bull's-eye shot, as it were, by a platform boiled down to one or two main, controlling and vote-compelling issues.

But after all, we give Mr. Bryan credit for having waged a splendid campaign, on a high plane, and he doubtless holds a higher niche in the people's esteem than at any previous time.

The People Distrusted.

(From The Columbus Enquirer-Sun.)

Viewed from an unbiased standpoint, it seems safe to assume that the defeat of democracy was not so much the defeat of the party per se as it was that of the candidate.

While the majority of the party have full confidence in Mr. Bryan, there is no disguising the fact that a large minority of the democrats have heretofore and still look upon him with distrust. That is to say, not that they regard him as dishonest, for they do not. They believe he is entirely honest and sincere, but they feel that many of his ideas are visionary. They revert to his record as an advocate of the free coinage of silver, of government ownership of railroads and telegraph lines, or the guaranty of bank deposits and of several other views which, if put into practice, they believe would be hurtful to the business interests of the country. And not only is this view entertained of him by the minority of his own party, but the great mass of independent voters—those who really hold the balance of power in our national elections—are even more skeptical of his ideas than are the minority democrats.

Must Assert Southern Independence.

(From the Augusta Chronicle.)

If the democratic party cannot be broadened to represent something more than a sectional protest, or the republican party so broadened as to represent something more than sectional distrust and sectional commercialism, then surely we are in a bad way politically.

Say what we may, the south's political isolation is complete—and is humiliating. She furnishes the votes for the democratic party; the north and west furnish the candidates. Representative southern men—men who are as competent to guide the destinies of the party or the nation as any to be found anywhere—go to national democratic conventions and stand around, silent and submissive, waiting to find out how Boss Murphy and Boss McCarren have fixed it up for New York, or how Boss Sullivan or Boss Guffey have arranged it for Illinois and Pennsylvania; states that represent nothing to democracy at the polls—but everything in the conventions.

Perhaps we present the case without pointing out a remedy. So we do. Who can?

This much, at least, might be suggested: A broader democratic party, standing in reality for something besides sectionalism and one-man ideas. Or a republican party that recognizes to a greater degree the civilization and best sentiment of a vast section of the country; with, perhaps, as much regard for the individual as it has heretofore shown for the special interest. Either that, or a respectable, safe and sane conservative independent party—the name is not of chief importance—that will seek to exemplify wisdom, justice and moderation in every nook and corner of this great land.

Surely something must be done to give the south a real voice in the councils of the nation, a real place in the sisterhood of states—or we must continue every four years to "march up the hill and then march down again."

An Incredible Blunder.

(From The Macon Telegraph.)

The fairest start for the presidency Mr. Bryan ever enjoyed was in the beginning of his most recent race when he returned from his tour of the world and was welcomed home by a reconciled and well-nigh undivided democracy. In the great greeting tendered him at Madison Square Garden, through some malign, inexplicable fate, in the face of common caution and over the protest of those who had a right to advise him, he enunciated the new, undemocratic, well-nigh unheard-of suggestion of government ownership of railroads.

It was a blunder incredible in its folly and incalculable in its consequences. It offended, insulted deeply, inexcusably the most deep-rooted fundamental sentiment of his party. It quenched the rising enthusiasm and covered the hosts of democracy from Maine to California as with a wet blanket, and his subsequent tour of the south that had promised to be a triumphal procession without parallel was attended with audiences that heard him with respect shorn of enthusiasm. Later Mr. Bryan propounded a new and unheard-of theory of democracy in the initiative and referendum which did not tend to lessen the disappointment he had already created.

In the campaign proper which he has just concluded Mr. Bryan did wonders to recover his lost ground. He waged a masterly battle from start to finish. He adhered religiously to sound issues, and he never lost a point or failed to turn a trick. He met and vanquished in turn and with the ease of a champion the doughtiest warriors of the opposition, including the hitherto invincible "Rough Rider" and his chosen successor. Had the chances been even and without great odds to overcome we feel satisfied that, handicapped as he was with his past record, he would have triumphed. We believe the free, unbought and untrammeled voice of this country is today in the majority, and on the side of democracy. But these were conditions which confronted us and which had to be taken into account. They are conditions which it is now demonstrated cannot be overcome with Bryan as democracy's candidate.

PLANS ARE MADE FOR NEW THEATER

Kahn Makes Lease for Number of Years.

WHITAKER NEW MANAGER

He Will Continue to Conduct an Up-to-Date Vaudeville Performance—Kahn Makes a Statement as to Bookings for New Play House.

Edwin P. Ansley, the well-known real estate agent and promoter, announces that the plans for the office building and theater which has been leased for a term of years by Ben Kahn, who severs his connection with the Orpheum theater tonight, are now in the hands of contractors for bids; that work on the building and theater will be begun at an early date and the theater completed and ready for the opening performance early in the fall of 1909.

This statement was made Friday, following the exclusive story printed in The Constitution Friday morning stating that Mr. Kahn, who has been the manager for the Orpheum since it opened in Atlanta over a year ago, had severed his connection with the Orpheum and would operate the new Ansley theater when completed as an up-to-date vaudeville house.

As stated, Milton Mannist, representing Weber & Rush, the lessees of the Orpheum, from the Atlanta Theater Company, is in Atlanta with Vivian Whitaker, who assumes control of the Orpheum Saturday night to continue it as an up-to-date vaudeville house. Mr. Whitaker is a southern boy. Born in New Orleans, raised in Meridian, Miss., he is well acquainted with the southern theatrical tastes, and will continue to make this playhouse popular. He was jumped into Atlanta from Montreal, Canada, by Weber & Rush to take hold of the playhouse and continue it after Mr. Kahn leaves. Mr. Mannist, whose headquarters are in New York city, said last night:

"We are going to give bigger and better bills as the season grows older. We will have Willa Holt Wakefield, a southern girl, now a top liner at the Fifth avenue, here for Thanksgiving week; the six Americans dancers, another New York novelty, the great Jackson family, and will return Brindamour, the Handcuff, for another engagement.

"Mr. Whitaker is a southern boy, and I am sure his management will give universal satisfaction."

Mr. Kahn was at the office of Mr. Ansley when seen, and stated:

"There is little I can add to my statement in The Constitution Friday morning. Just say that I have leased the theater for a term of years mutually satisfactory, have given satisfactory indorsement on the lease and am now going to work for the bookings.

"I have the exclusive franchise for the William Morris circuit of vaudeville acts, which are held to be the superior of any in the country. He books for the best houses in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, New Orleans and Cincinnati. This puts us right in the circuit.

"Just say that the same popular prices inaugurated at the Orpheum will be continued at the new theater. I will probably go to New York for a few weeks, but will return to superintend the work on the theater."

Architect A. Ten Eyck Brown is now at work revising the plans for the theater and office building, both of which are to be of reinforced concrete and absolutely nreproof throughout. The theater is to be on the ground floor, with a seating capacity of comfortable proportions, a balcony, a gallery and eight boxes.

STUDY OF SOCIAL PROBLEMS AT UNIVERSALISTS CHURCH

At the Universalist church on East Harris street, near Peachtree, the Sunday evening attendance is steadily increasing and much interest is manifested in the new class for the study of pressing social and economic problems, which has recently been instituted. The class, which meets at 7:45, is led by the pastor, and is following a definite course of study prepared by the American Institute of Social Service.

The meetings, which are entirely nonsectarian in their character, are all open to the public and persons of varying religious affiliations are found in the class. The general subject for the month of November will be "Women in Industry," and the theme for Sunday evening will be "Working Women." The subjects for consideration in December will be "Wealth and Capital," while the discussions for the month of January will concern "The Organization of Labor." Other subjects in the course of lessons will be "Housing Problems," "Civic Corruption," "Public Utilities," "Socialism," "Immigration," "Foreign Relations," "The Race Question," Labor Conditions," "Prison Reform," etc.

It is believed that much good can be accomplished by a careful and unprejudiced study of these questions which affect our American life.

SOCIETY

MISS MARY BRENT SMITH TO MARRY MR. RONALD RANSOM

Governor and Mrs. Hoke Smith have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Brent, to Mr. Ronald Ransom, the marriage to take place December 19.

Not only in social circles in Georgia, but throughout the south will the announcement of this engagement be of broad interest.

Miss Smith is the eldest of the three daughters of Governor and Mrs. Smith, and was one of the most popular of last year's bouquet of debutantes. She is a notably handsome young woman, of blonde type, and her face reflects a character of strength and a nature sweet and lovable.

Last year on all official occasions she most gracefully assisted her mother in doing the honors of the executive mansion, and impressed all who met her with her dignity and womanliness.

On her mother's side she represents a family for many years illustrious in Georgia history, while on her father's side, her ancestors were among the distinguished people of North Carolina. Her mother was the youngest daughter of General T. R. R. Cobb, and she is the neice of Mrs. Harry Jackson, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Augustus Hull, of Athens, Ga.

Mr. Ransom is among the brightest and most studious of Atlanta's younger lawyers. He is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ransom, of Atlanta, and has a wide circle of friends in both business and social circles. He is a graduate of the University of Georgia. It is stated that the marriage will be a quiet one, owing to the recent death of Miss Smith's grandfather, the late Dr. Hildreth Smith.

Domino Club Reception.

A beautiful reception was given last night by the Tuesday Evening Domino Club of West End at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McEachern, and two hundred and fifty guests enjoyed an elaborate hospitality.

The house was decorated throughout with foliage plants and chrysanthemums, the flowers in their fullest perfection making brilliant effect. In the drawing room, where the receiving party stood, there was an effective decoration in ferns and chrysanthemums, white masses of the blossoms on the mantel and filling jardinieres in appropriate niches. The living room beyond was aglow with large yellow chrysanthemums, and pink ones were used in profusion in the reception hall and library. Punch was served in the hall from a bowl imbedded in ferns.

The dining room was filled with the warm light from red shaded electric lights overhead, and the confection table, handsome in its appointments, was decorated in red. The centerpiece was a vase of red roses, the candelabra had red shades, and the candles were in red and white. The buffet was massed with ferns and red roses, and red was the color obtaining in details of a dainty supper.

The music of an orchestra was a bright feature of the evening.

Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. McEachern were Mrs. W. A. Foster, Mrs. F. S. Cox and Mr. George Ramey, the three club members making the highest domino score for the year at the regular meetings, and the entire club membership took part in dispensing a delightful hospitality.

Many lovely and dainty handkerchiefs were showered upon her. Miss Mitchell has been assisting in the primary work for several years, and is greatly loved by the children of that department.

Chrysanthemum Luncheon.

Mrs. John K. Ottley was the charming hostess at a luncheon yesterday in honor of Mrs. Carrol Latimer and a group of fair visitors, Misses Ellis, of Nevada; Keeline, of Iowa; Flynn, of Pittsburg, and Meeks, of Nashville. The party assembled at 1 o'clock, and were received by Mrs. Ottley and Mrs. McCabe in the drawing room, where the season's queen of flowers, the chrysanthemum, in yellow and white, was used with charming decorative effect on all sides.

In the dining room only pink chrysanthemums were used. The table had as centerpiece a large silver loving cup, filled with the pink blooms. Near the end of the table were smaller loving cups, filled with them, and a graceful arrangement of tulle and asparagus ferns completed the decorations. Silver candlesticks held unshaded pink tapers, and the bonbons and ices were in pink. The place cards were painted in a design of pink chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Ottley's becoming toilet was in pink moire bengaline trimmed in French lace, and Mrs. McCabe wore black chiffon voile trimmed in lace.

Mrs. Latimer's beauty and charm are winning for her a general admiration, and she was a picture yesterday in a directoire gown of silk, in the pale amber shades brocaded in pink roses. Her hat was a directoire model in black, trimmed in black plumes. Miss Ellis was most attractive in a rose colored gown and black picture hat.

Miss Keeline wore a rose colored silk gown and black-plumed hat. Miss Flynn's gown was of olive green velvet, and her hat of velvet was trimmed in gold lisse and plumes.

Miss Meeks wore with a pale blue satin gown a gold colored hat, trimmed in white plumes.

SAYS GIRLS SHOULD LEARN TO SEW, WASH AND BAKE

Society Girls Worthless, Says Editor Lewis—Should Become of More Use.

Chicago, November 6.—Society girls, whether in Chicago, New York or Washington, or elsewhere, should quit the gay social whirl and be of more practical use to the world, according to Charles D. Lewis, editor of The Sociological Review of Philadelphia. In an address before the Englewood Woman's Culture Club yesterday on the bringing up of girls, he said, in the course of his talk, that society girls should sew buttons on old clothes when needed.

Strive to bake bread without burning it to pieces.

Study how to wash dishes without breaking them.

Learn how to wash a man's silk underwear without tearing.

Learn to master the mysteries of the kitchen, instead of the mysteries of the drawing room.

"Society girls become vain and worthless," said Editor Lewis, "because they are petted and coddled too much before marriage. The fact of the matter is, that they have altogether too much leisure and not enough work.

"They go gadding about in automobiles and spend much precious time at the matinees, eating chocolate candies with foolish young men in swallow-tailed coats.

"When they marry they bring to their husbands superficial beauty, plenty of vanity and a smattering of book learning. That is about the limit of their accomplishments."

LONG LOST DAUGHTER LOCATED BY PAINTING

Father Believes Child Was Model for Works by Grefe.

New York, November 6.—After searching for eighteen years for his daughter, Thomas P. Smith, of 182 La Salle street, Chicago, believes he has found trace of her in two paintings by Will Grefe, a New York artist. Mr. Smith has communicated with the artist, who is now trying to locate the model who posed for the figures in the two paintings. Eighteen years ago, according to Mr. Smith's letter, he was divorced from his wife in San Francisco, and soon after she disappeared, taking their little daughter with her, although the court had awarded the child to the father. Mr. Smith patiently traced his former wife, and after ten years located her in London, but the child was not with her, and all the satisfaction he could get regarding her was that she had been left with relatives in Chicago. After a second search in Chicago, Mr. Smith returned to San Francisco, and there recently he saw a picture by Mr. Grefe, in which one of the figures looked remarkably like his wife when at the age of 20.

It was the second time he had seen the face in one of Mr. Grefe's pictures, and so much did the likeness impress him that he wrote to the artist asking for particulars regarding the model, who, he believes, is his daughter. Mr. Grefe says he remembers the model well, but has not seen her for six months. He is making inquiries regarding her. He says she always tried to hide her identity, and admitted that the name she used was a false one. She at times spoke of having lived in Chicago. Mr. Smith, in his letter, stated that while a good part of his once large fortune had been spent in his search for his daughter, which had been almost continuous, he still has enough to give her a good home.

John D.'s Chauffeur Arrested.

New York, November 6.—John D. Rockefeller's chauffeur was arrested in West End avenue today, charged with reckless driving. As a bicycle policeman halted the car, the occupant leaned out and said: "I am John D. Rockefeller. I am going to see my physician. I wish you would let my chauffeur take me there, and then arrest him, if you must." The request was granted, and after Mr. Rockefeller reached his destination, the chauffeur was taken into custody and fined $5.

Manchester Mills to Reopen.

Manchester, November 6.—The dispute which has been going on for nearly two months between the cotton operatives of Manchester and their employers was settled today, the employers having compromised on a reduction in wages in March instead of January. The mills will reopen November 9. They have been closed for seven weeks, and much distress has resulted.

Saddlery Plant Burned.

Nashville, Tenn., November 6.—Flames of unknown origin at an early hour this morning destroyed the plant of the Nashville Saddlery Company. The building and stock were entirely destroyed, entailing a loss of from $125,000 to $140,000, with insurance of $85,000. The adjoining plant of the National Hosiery Mills, owned and operated by the same company, was not damaged.

GIRL'S PRESENCE OF MIND SAVED LIVES OF NURSES

Five Minutes After She Left Her Bed the Floor Fell Through.

Chicago, November 6.—Twenty-eight housemaids employed at the Michael Reese hospital, but sleeping in a house nearby, had thrilling escapes from fire which attacked the house early today. Three of them escaped with slight cuts and bruises on their feet when they jumped from second-story windows; four were partly overcome by smoke and led from the place by rescuers, while the others, clad only in their night gowns, left the building without difficulty. They owed their easy escape to the presence of mind of Miss Bessie Murphy. Miss Murphy was awakened by dense smoke in her room, and discovered that the flames had eaten their way through the flooring under her bed. Although dazed by the smoke, she groped her way along the corridors, knocking at every door and giving the alarm. Within five minutes after she had left her room the floor gave way and her bed tumbled through to the basement. Shivering with cold, the young women all found shelter and clothes at the hospital. The monetary loss was small.

HURRICANE SUFFERERS.

Great Desolation Said to Prevail Along Nicaraguan Coast.

New Orleans, La., November 6.—Passengers arriving here last night on the steamer Dictator, from Bluefields, say that great suffering and desolation prevail along the coast of Nicaragua, where a hurricane recently destroyed the towns of Rio Grande and Prinzapulka, and devastated the country along the coast for many miles.

The inhabitants of the storm-swept section are said to be without shelter and with practically neither food nor clothing. Relief measures are declared to have been feeble. Popular subscriptions are now being made, however, at Belibe, and other ports throughout the neighboring country, and it is believed the present suffering of those affected by the storm will soon be largely relieved.

Matching Laces "It's such a bother matching laces and embroideries," is a complaint women often make when confronted with the buying a layette or a trousseau.

One of the features strest in our Lace Department is this very thing—"matching up." In the first place, we have the things in stock to match up with. Then we know exactly how to do it, because we get so much practice. And we don't mind taking the trouble to get everything "just right."

Trousseau white Fabrics Speaking of laces reminds one of that close-kin topic, fine white goods for dainty underwear. Of course there are the staple things—the linens, the cambrics, the longcloths, and so on. But very often one hasn't kept up with the changes of fashion, the improvements of weaves, the new things that are brought out, and when it comes to buying a lot of white goods or, say a bridal outfit, one is at sea.

Our sales people are right up-to-the-top-notch on this sort of thing.

They can tell you what for heavy and what for light-weight garments. They can inform you about the laundering possibilities of certain kinds—about the quantities necessary, about the comparative popularity of their fabrics.

All of which is helpful to any buyer, and particularly so to her who is not quite sure what she ought to have.

Where Words Go Halting To try to describe the Gowns in our Suit and Costume Department is but to discover the inadequacy of words and phrase forms.

One wants no periods, but only exclamation points. No over-worked adjectives, but just "Ohs" and "Ahs." No rhetoric but only "raving"—the kind that women do when they see before them all the fascinating combinations of cut and color that the fashion-books ever dreamed of.

Philip Stubbes' Way One thinks of old Philip Stubbes, trying to tell about the women's clothes of his day. (He lived in the time of Good Queen Bess.)

Says he:

"Their gowns be no less famous, some of silke velvet grogram taffeta fine cloth of 40 shillings the yard, But if the whole gown be not silke or velvet then the same thall be laid with lace two or three fingers broade all over the gown or the most parte. Or if not so, then it must be garded with great gardes of costly lace and as these gowns be of sundry colours so they be of divers fashion changing with the Moon. Some with sleeves hanging down to their skirts, trayling on the ground and cast over the shoulders like a cow's tayle. These have sleeves much shorter, cut up the arms and pointed with Silke—ribbons very gallantly tyed with true love's knottes (for so they call them). Some have capes fastenid down to the middist of their backs, faced with velvet or else with some fine-wrought silk Taffetie at the least, and fringed about Bravely, and (to sum up all in a word) some are pleated are ryveled down the back wonderfully with more knacks than I can declare."

Pretty good, Philip Stubbes!

But we sympathize with you in getting to the end of your vocabulary and "giving it up" with the frank expression that the "knacks" are more than you can declare.

We are in precisely the same case ourselves.

GOV. PATTERSON MAY TESTIFY

Sensational Developments Anticipated in Habeas Corpus.

TRANSFER OF PRISONERS

Prisoners Taken From Camp Nemo to Union City—Number Were Forced to Accompany the Outlaw Bands or Suffer Punishment.

Union City, Tenn., November 6.—Sensational developments are anticipated during the hearing of the habeas corpus petitions filed in behalf of fifty alleged night riders now being held by the military authorities in connection with the recent raids in the vicinity of Reelfoot lake, which began this afternoon. It may be necessary that the prosecution expose its hand as to the evidence which has been secured. Should the state fail to break down the contentions of the petitioners, Governor Patterson will be called on as a witness. It will be the first time in the history of the state that a governor has testified in a homicide case.

Nine prisoners were brought from Camp Nemo today, it being agreed that their petitions should be taken up first. States warrants have been issued charging them with participation in the killing of Captain Quentin Rankin, the culminating act of the night rider depredations, and, although these warrants have not been served, it will be the contention of the state that the fact that they have been placed in the hands of the county sheriff is sufficient to combat the contention of the attorneys of the men that they are being held without civil warrant. However, the all-important contention of the petitioners is as to the right of the governor to call out the state troops, and the ruling of the court will set a precedent in Tennessee.

Prisoners Transferred.

Camp Nemo, Tenn., November 6.—This morning the following prisoners were transferred from Camp Nemo to Union City: Ed Roney, O. D. Eldridge, Arthur Cloar, oJhn A. Williams, Bird Morris, J. S. Ralloff, John Coksacker, Jesse Linden and S. A. Hicks. These men were started for Union City about 8 o'clock this morning under the charge of Captain Ben Cappell, of Memphis. Captain Cappell took with him a guard of twelve men from the Memphis companies, and was accompanied by Captain Roane Waring, of Memphis. Colonel Tatom's instructions to Captain Cappell were: "Get them there dead or alive."

A feature of interest was discovered today, when John Cochran stated that he was a night rider by compulsion, as many others likewise were. It is generally admitted that a number were simply forced to ride with the outlaw bands or suffer punishment at their hands in case of a refusal.

Frank James, one of the prisoners now at Camp Nemo, said today that he is a distant relative of Frank James, the famous outlaw.

To Investigate Letters.

Nashville, Tenn., November 6.—A special representative of the postoffice department has reached Union City to investigate the matter of the anonymous threatening letters recently sent Governor Patterson and gentlemen connected with the ownership of Reelfoot lake. A thorough investigation will be made.

Students Flee Flames.

Washington, November 6.—Fire which started in the kitchen of the Bliss Electrical school, located on the edge of the district line at Tacoma park, a suburb north of this city, early today compelled nearly 200 students to flee for their lives in their night clothing. The building, which was a three-story frame structure, formerly the old North Tacoma hotel, was completely destroyed. All of the students are believed to have escaped from the burning structure, but lost all of their effects. The loss is estimated at upwards of $50,000. The building had been occupied as a school building only about six weeks.

Dr. Rankin Returns.

Montgomery, Ala., November 6.—Dr. W. R. Rankin, brother of Captain Quentin Rankin, who was killed by night riders in Tennessee, has returned to his office here. He thinks there is every reason to anticipate the punishment of most of the men interested in the murder. The people are very ignorant, he says, and are saying little to help the officers in their work.

NIGHT RIDERS WHIP FARMER

He Was Given Beating in the Presence of His Wife.

Waverly, Tenn., November 6.—Jesse Robinson, a farmer living on the Tennessee river near Cuba Landing, was taken from his home to the woods nearby a few nights ago and given a severe thrashing with hickory withes by some unknown parties, who also made his wife go with them to witness the punishment inflicted.

It is said that Mr. Robinson had sold several sacks of peanuts a few days before, and this gave offense to his enemies.

After wearing out several switches on him they made him take the stub ends of the withes home with him, that he might remember not to offend in future.

ONLY WANT SQUARE DEAL IN THE AFRICAN JUNGLE

Roosevelt Refused Special Privileges Offered by the British Foreign Office.

New York, November 6.—It having been announced that President Roosevelt has declined the offer of the British foreign office to grant him a special license entitling him to the freedom of the African game preserves when he makes his hunting trip in the spring, his bag will be limited by the law which applies to every sportsman in that country. The ordinary license requires that the game laws be strictly observed. These laws, say New Yorkers who have hunted in Africa, give him permission to kill only the following animals and birds:

Two male elephans, two rhinoceroses, ten hippopotami, twenty-one antelope, including two kudos, two gembok and one bongo, two earth hogs, two earth wolves, ten chevrotains, two musk deer, two marabou storks, two ostriches, two egrets and one chimpanzee.

He will be forbidden to shoot giraffes, wild asses, zebra, female or young elephans, vultures of any species, owls of any species, saddle-billed storks, whale-headed storks, crowned cranes, okapi, female buffalo, female or young ostriches, and speckes tragetaphus, female.

There are no restrictions placed upon the number of lions, leopards and crocodiles that he may wish to shoot. They have no closed season in Africa for these animals and reptiles.

Delegates Named for Alabama.

Montgomery, Ala., November 6.—(Special.)—Governor B. B. Comer has put the stamp of his approval upon the Farmers' Union congress in New Orleans, November 11, by appointment of delegates to represent the state. The list takes in men of all walks of life. It is made up as follows: M. P. LeGrand, Montgomery; G. T. McElderry, Talladega; Julian Waters, Mobile; J. H. Harris, Oakbowery; W. L. Jones, Anniston; W. H. Conway, Jemison; W. H. Tayloe, Uniontown; W. J. Holland, Brewton; Fox Henderson, Troy; A. W. Bush, Mobile; Howard Douglass, McIntosh; J. H. Fitts, Tuscaloosa; A. A. Broadus, Decatur; C. A. O'Neal, Andalusia.

Earthquake in Germany.

Plauen, Germany, November 6.—The most violent earthquake ever experienced here terrified the inhabitants of the city at 5:40 o'clock this morning. Houses were shaken and the people fled panic-stricken into the streets. The shock, which lasted for several minutes, was accompanied by sharp explosions and thunderous rumbling in the earth. Sixty or seventy earthquake shocks have been felt here daily for the past week. They are now becoming less frequent, but more violent. The temperature of medicinal springs in the vicinity has increased 15 degrees.

Governor Misquoted.

Montgomery, Ala., November 6.—(Special.)—Governor B. B. Comer states that the report to the effect that he voted for the good roads amendment was an error. Though he favors good roads he voted against the amendment, believing that the state was committed to education and the old soldiers, and that the prospective state funds would not justify extensive expenditures along any other line. He thought it would be most unwise to take any receding steps on placing the state on higher and still higher grounds as regards education and eleemosynary institutions.

Library Date Changed.

Montgomery, Ala., November 6.—(Special.)—The date of the meeting of the Alabama Library Association at Anniston has been changed to December 8, 9 and 10. Dr. Thomas M. Owen, president, found that there were so many other meetings late in November it would be hard to get the friends of the movement together without sacrifice. For the month there are meetings in the state of the Woman's Federation of Clubs, at Montgomery; National Association for Promotion of Industrial Education, in Atlanta, but of wide interest in Alabama, and the confederate veterans and sons, at Mobile.

Low Rates Given.

Montgomery, Ala., November 6.—(Special.)—Low rates have been announced by the railroads to the following meetings: Southern Commercial Congress, Washington, December 7 and 8; Farmers' Union, New Orleans, November 11 to 14; Cotton Association meeting, November 10 and 11, and National Hardware Association, November 18 to 24, in Memphis; reunion Confederate Veterans and Sons, Mobile, November 24 to 26.

German Steamer Wrecked.

Danzig, Prussia, November 6.—The German coasting steamer Archimedes has been wrecked, and ten members of her crew were drowned. The vessel went ashore during a snow storm yesterday. The only three survivors were taken from the wreck this morning.

SEAT IN SENATE FOR ROOSEVELT

Declared That President May Be Named as Successor to Platt.

Washington, November 6.—That president Roosevelt may be the successor of Senator Platt in the senate is considered by many in Washington as not at all improbable.

Those who regard this possible declare they have assurances from the president himself that he would not be entirely averse to the election to the senatorial office under conditions as they would be after the 4th of March.

So far as known he has made no recent expression on the subject, but he has said within the past year that with Mr. Taft as president he would not feel the same hesitancy about entering the senate that he would feel with some one in the white house with whom his relations were not as intimate as they were with Mr. Taft.

His general attitude has been adverse to entering the senate, because he has felt that as a member of that body he would be called upon to criticise his successor in the presidency, and this he would feel a delicacy about doing. He has said, however, that, knowing Mr. Taft as he does know him, and agreeing with him in all essentials as he does, he is confident that there would not be an occasion for antagonism.

He has not gone to the extent at any time of indicating that he would desire the office, even with Mr. Taft as president, but merely has said that with him in that position, his chief reason for not desiring the senatorial position would disappear. Even this much has not been said since there has been any certainty of Mr. Taft's entering the white house, but the president's outline of his attitude is now recalled as offering a possible solution of the senatorial entanglement in New York and as making an opening for the continuance of Mr. Roosevelt's public career.

It is even suggested that the absence of the president on his proposed African hunting expedition need not necessarily stand in the way of his election, but rather that such absence might relieve the situation of embarrassment to him in case his friends should desire to press his name.

GOMPERS WILL ANSWER ATTACKS ON HIS COURSE

Will Stay in the Federation as a Member if Not as President.

Washington, November 6.—Ready to answer before the convention attacks which have been made on him for his course in the recent presidential campaign, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, left here today for Denver, where the twenty-eighth annual meeting of that organization begins next Monday.

In an interview printed in The Post today, Mr. Gompers is quoted as saying that he is not a candidate for re-election in the sense that he seeks the office, although he would be glad to serve again if it is the will of the convention.

"I am, however, in the American Federation of Labor to stay," said Mr. Gompers, "and if I do not stay as president I shall stay in the ranks. I believe in the course I have pursued, and think I have done right. I have endeavored to give voice to the wrongs labor has endured, and I have endeavored to have them righted. I was told at the beginning of the campaign that a gentleman high in the councils of the republican party said he would burn brushwood behind me so fast that I should be eaten up by the fire. I knew I risked that when I began the fight in the cause of labor.

"More criticism than has been directed against me in the last few days undoubtedly will arise. There was a lot of it during the campaign, notably the story that a cabinet position awaited me. I said as early as last August that there was no office within the gift of the people or of the government for which I was a candidate or which I would accept. I meant that then, and I mean it now."

Delay Standard Oil Suits.

New York, November 6.—Announcement was made by officials of the Standard Oil Company today that word has been received from United States District Attorney Randolph, of Memphis, Tenn., that the federal suits against the Standard Oil Company, of Indiana, which were to be called for trial on November 9 in Jackson, Tenn., have been continued indefinitely. It is not likely that the cases will come up until after the present term of the federal court in Tennessee, which will be concluded early next April.

Children Rescued From Flames.

Chicago, November 6.—Eighteen children were rescued from a fire that started on the third floor of a four-story brick building last night, which caused a loss of $75,000. The building is occupied by makers of children's clothing. Smoke from the fire was carried into the home of Isaac Lamb, where his eleven children were asleep, and they were carried out by detectives, aided by the father. The detectives then ran to the home of Mrs. Mary Miller, where they carried out her seven children. The children in both families ranged in age from 1 to 13 years.

To Begin Life Anew.

Omaha, Neb., November 6.—Abbie Rice, star witness in the Dr. Rustin murder case, has become reconciled with her husband, Irving Rice. Mr. Rice announces that at the close of the trial of Charles E. Davis, charged with killing Dr. Rustin, they will go to some place where they are not known, and begin life anew. Mrs. Rice is held in jail as a witness in default of bail, but it is likely her husband will be able to secure her release.

Remarkable Interest in the Nemo and Smart Set Corset Demonstration

Have you attended the demonstration yet? Come today and talk with the expert corsetiere. She is here from New York, for this occasion. Her professional skill and knowledge of Corsets, their fitting and proper wearing, will certainly be of interest.

The Smart Set and the Nemo both have settled finally the season's Corset question. They combine grace and beauty of style, slender, perfect lines with the utmost amount of comfort and wear. When you have seen the new models and had their special features explained, then will you better understand and appreciate the excellence of these popular Corsts, as so many others have done.

They have the style and daintiness you would expect only in Paris Corsets, light though better made and stronger than most any French Corset you could buy. Fine materials throughout, and the variety of shapes and styles is so great that every figure can be fitted perfectly.

Prices of the Smart Set are $5 to $12.50; Nemo Corsets at $2 to $10.

SAWYER MEETS TRAGIC DEATH

Head and Shoulders Severed From Body by Circular Saw.

Moultrie, Ga., November 6.—(Special.) Stewart Yates, sawyer at the sawmill of Harmon & Co., near Tallokas, in Brooks county, was tragically killed this afternoon. While crossing the mill house he stumbled and fell across the circular saw, and in an instant he was cut half in two. The head and shoulders were separated from the body and the lower limbs entirely. So quick was the accident that his fellow employees were stunned to look around for him and find his lifeless, and his body cut in twain.

Yates was a young married man, 23 years old, a son of J. M. Yates, one of the leading citizens of Brooks county. He is survived by a wife and child.

High Records in Building.

Chicago, November 6.—Building construction is now making new high records according to The Construction News. During October permits were taken out in thirty-six cities for the construction of 9,792 buildings, involving a total estimated cost of $42,074,775. This is $12,000,000 more than was the case in October a year ago. In New York City alone building permits involving an expenditure of $15,341,070 were taken out during the past month, an increase of 112 per cent over the corresponding month a year ago. The increase in Brooklyn is 22 per cent and in Philadelphia 59 per cent. Other increases are: Chicago, 25 per cent; Denver, 65 per cent; Portland, Ore., 28 per cent; Mboile, 200 per cent; Grand Rapids, Mich., 103; Davenport, Iowa 75 per cent; Des Moines, 46 per cent; Rochester, N. Y., 36 per cent, and Worcester, Mass., 30 per cent.

$1,060,000 for Missions.

St. Louis, November 6.—An appropriation of $1,060,000 to carry on its work next year in Africa and China was made by the general committee of foreign missions of Methodist Episcopal church, in annual session here today. This is the amount contributed last year by the Methodist churches in the United States. It is a rule that the mission board may appropriate an amount for the ensuing year equal to that collected the previous year. Twenty-five bishops, 200 missionaries, and many laymen are attending the meeting. Bishop Earl N. Cranston, of Washington, D. C., is presiding.

Montgomery, Ala., November 6.—Notice has been received that the party of Chicago business men touring the south will reach Montgomery November 19. The Commercial Club is making arrangements to take care of them in a handsome way.

NO TEXAS HUNT FOR JUDGE TAFT

May Come to Augusta to Spend the Winter.

Cincinnati, Ohio, November 6.—Judge Taft said today that there was hardly the slightest possibility of his going to Texas to hunt any time this winter. He added that no arrangements of any kind had been made looking to such a trip, and that none were contemplated.

Judge Taft said he would appreciate very much if the erronous impression could be corrected that he owned any land in Texas. "The ranch referred to," he explained, "belongs to my brother's wife, Mrs. C. P. Taft. I don't own an acre of land nor have I any interest in the ranch."

No demands were made on the time of Mr. Taft today except those relating to his correspondence and the preparations which are being made for his departure at 9 o'clock tonight for Hot Springs, Va. The office in the Linton hotel are being dismantled, and their contents packed for shipment to Hot Springs.

The office force there will consist of Fred W. Carpenter, private secretary, and Mr. Hendricks, his assistant. While there it is the intention of Judge Taft to devote himself to golf and exercise. He will transact as little business as possible, and expressed the desire that it might be known that he wished as few conferences as possible. He will remain at Hot Springs at least until Thanksgiving, and in the meantime until decide where the winter is to spent. Augusta, Ga., has been recommended.

Rehearing Not Denied.

Washington, November 6.—On October 19 the Associated Press sent a dispatch from this city to the effect that in the United States supreme court the International Text Book Company was denied a rehearing in its suit against Aaron T. Pigg, of Topeka, Kan. It now appears that this was an error, caused by a mistake of the supreme court clerk, who confessed this case with another having a like number on the court calendar. The case of the International Text Book Company against Pigg has not yet been argued.

New Chair Was Endowed.

Little Rock, Ark., November 6.—The general educational board of the United States has announced a continuous annual appropriation of $3,000 for the support of a new chair and department in the University of Arkansas, to be designated as professor of secondary education in Arkansas. The duties of the new position will be to visit the various high schools and other educational institutions of the state, deliver lectures and aid the management of the schools in their work.

MANY PETTY BURGLARIES.

Whole Section of South Georgia Is Suffering From Small Thefts.

Tifton, Ga., November 6.—(Special.)—The petty burglaries which have been infesting this section of the state, especially small towns along the lines of the railroad, continue with little interuption.

Tuesday night the stores of E. F. Bussey & Co., and L. P. Shippey & Co., at Enigma, on the Atlantic Coast Line, were entered and an attempt made to enter the store of P. G. Easters.

The next night, at Omega, on the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, parties attempted to enter the store of Young & Co.

The burglaries at Brookfield, where there has been three; at Ty Ty, where there has been two, and Enigma and Omega, coupled with those at Pearson and other points on the Atlantic Coast Line, are causing a good deal of excitement through this section, and an earnest effort is being made by the officers of the law apprehend the thieves. Detectives have been at work, and several negro suspects have been arrested, although people on the inside do not believe that the robberies are the work of negroes, especially with the cases at Pearson and Tifton.

It will also be remembered in this connection that the night operator at Nahunta was shot through a closed window, while on duty. At first it was thought that this crime was committed for the purpose of robbery, but a later development give another direction to the case altogether. It is also expected that arrests in this case will follow later.

REPUBLICANS PLAN A COUP

Governor Harris to Cheat Harmon Out of Appointments.

Columbus, Ohio, November 6.—Governor Harris has decided to certify to the Ohio senate when it is called in extra session next January, the appointments of C. C. Lemert, insurance commissioner; Colonel W. S. Rogers, fire marshal; W. T. Lewis, labor commissioner; W. H. Phipps, oil inspector; James C. Wonders, highway commissioner, and a number of trustees of the state institutions. The senate is expected at once to confirm these appointments, and it is expected by the republicans that when Governor-elect Harmon sends his own appointments to these positions the senate will be in a position to say that the offices are already filled.

COTTON NET GAIN 5 TO 9 POINTS

May Makes New High Records for Season.

Market Opened at Decline—Report That Manchester Labor Troubles Had Been Settled Caused Prices to Advance. Closed Steady.

New York, November 6.—After early weakness, the cotton market had a very sharp advance with May contracts making new high records for the season and while the close was off from the best, the final tone was steady at a net gain of 5@9 points. Sales were estimated at 350,000 bales.

The market opened steady at a decline of 1@3 points and during the forenoon sold off to a net loss of 7@8 points under local bear pressure and liquidation promoted by easier cables and talk of a bearish census report next Monday. Offerings were well taken at the decline and following private cables from Liverpool announcing that Manchester labor troubles had been settled, the market became steady, active on strong renewal of outside buying orders, Wall street bull support and covering by early sellers. Prices sold to within a point or two of Wednesday's high level on the general list, with December touching 9.15 and January 9.98, but later reacted under heavy realizing, after the more urgent demand from shorts had been supplied and closed between 6 and 9 points off from the top. Rumors of a very bullish national ginners' report were among the factors on the advance. The report of the census bureau will be issued at the opening on Monday morning.

Receipts at the ports today 84,918 bales, against 73,787 last week and 68,346 last year. For the week 649,000 bales against 417,682 last week and 366,777 last year.

Spot closed quiet, 5 points advance; middling uplands 9.30; middling gulf 9.55. Sales none.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, November 6.—Cotton—Spots opened easy and closed steady, good middling being reduced at 8 15-16. Sales on the spot 2,000 bales; to arrive 6,200.

Futures opened quiet at a decline of 2 to 6 points under the influence of disappointing Liverpool cables. Later the market sagged off still further under the bearish into sight statement, the active position reaching a level 9 to 10 points under yesterday's final quotations. At this point numerous cable messages from Liverpool and Manchester were received stating that the cotton mill lockout had been settled, and prices quickly rose 20 to 23 points, at which level they were at a net advance of 10 to 14 points. At the closing the tone was called steady, and prices showed a net advance of 5 to 7 points.

Dry Goods.

New York, November 6.—The dry goods market was active in the primary division today. Carpet buyers are coming in freely for the opening next week. Cotton goods are very firm and tending higher. Cotton yarns are firmer and higher. Wool is selling more freely.

Liverpool Cotton.

Liverpool, November 6.—Closing: Cotton, spot quiet, prices 2 points lower; American middling 5.48; good middling 5.12; middling 5.00; low middling 4.80; good ordinary 4.29; ordinary 3.89. The sales of the day were 6,000 bales, of which 300 were for speculation and export and included 5,000 American. Receipts 23,300 bales, all American. Futures opened steady and closed easy.

Carpenter, Bangot & Co.

New York, November 6.—After the opening the feature was the heavy realizing, supposed to be for some large western account which was willing to take profits before the sinners' report on Monday. When the settlement of the strike was announced from Manchester an active demand immediately appeared from Wall street houses, who took all offerings advancing the market some 20 points from the low level of the morning. The buying was speculative in its character, and based on the idea that cotton was cheap regardless of the size of the crops in all the producing countries. The feeling in the market continues bullish, as it has been for the past month, and the only selling comes from hedges against cotton and realizing profits from time to time. Liverpool should be 8 points higher tomorrow.

Judge Taft's Remarks at Cincinnati One of the Influences That Causes Such Activity in the Stock Market.

New York, November 6.—The speculative movement in stocks entered on a new and broader phase today in the entry into the buying movement of additional forces from widely scattered sources. The alert leaders of the speculation were prompt to perceive this development, and to take advantage of it, by manipulative devices, to help on the advance in prices. The advance was in itself an attraction to the somewhat excited operations of the new participants, who were apparently of the class that would have withdrawn or waited if prices had moved downward instead of upward. The buying orders today through commission houses were on a much enlarged scale, and they seemed to come from widely separated sources. A notable influence was attributed to the remarks of Judge Taft to the Commercial Club, of Cincinnati, in the assurances of noninterference from the federal government with all business and corporate enterprise that observes the law. The incoming rush of orders for stocks was regarded confidently as a herald of coming developments in the industries of the country. The soothing of the friction between France and Germany was the cause of some relief and the settlement of the strike in the Lancashire cotton mills was another helpful factor from abroad.

The largest day's business previous to today for the present year was on September 22, when prices broke violently following the Maine election on sales of 1,426,900 shares. Today's spurt to 1,534,000 shares shows the largest such sharp expansion that has occurred on rising quotations since the days of the abortive speculation on the increase in the Harriman dividends. The market's furious activity was maintained to the last, and prices were still forging upward, although with some effect from realizing sales at certain points.

The day's movement showed such gains as 4 to 4 1-2 for Amalgamated Copper, New York Central, Louisville and Nashville, and Atlantic Coast Line; 3 1-4 for United States Steel and Union Pacific; 6 1-4 for Great Northern Ore certificates, and 10 in Lackawanna.

Bonds were strong and active. Total sales, par value, $5,612,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

DROUTH DAMAGE CAUSES ADVANCE

Wheat Closed Three-Eighths to Seven-Eighths Up.

Insufficient Moisture in Ohio, as Shown in State Report, Made Condition of New Crop .56 Against .82 Last Year.

Chicago, November 6.—Official confirmation of damage by drought to the new-sown crop of wheat in this country caused an advance in wheat prices on the local exchange today final quotations being up ⅜ to ⅞c, compared with yesterday's close. Corn and provisions closed weak, but oats were firm.

Confirmation of the oft-repeated claims of damage to the fall-sown crop of wheat, because of insufficient moisture, was found in the form of the Ohio state report, which estimated the condition of the new crop at 56 against 82 the corresponding time last year, and which estimated the seeded area at 76 per cent of last year's acreage. The market was also bullishly affected by further advances in the prices of flaxseed at Minneapolis and Duluth, which, it was maintained, were due to reports of serious damage to the Argentine crop. Exporters here, however, claimed there was no prospects of any export business in wheat at present prices. The strength in the wheat pit developed during the last part of the day, prior to that sentiment being rather bearish owing to liberal receipts in the northwest. The July delivery displayed the greatest strength and closed ⅞c higher than yesterday at 98⅝. December closed at $1.00¼, and May at $1.03¾. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 219,000 bushels. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 589 cars against 492 last week and 467 a year ago.

Renewed profit-taking, inspired by continued ideal weather for the movement of the new crop, caused weakness in the corn market. The Ohio state report, which estimated the condition of the new crop at 83, compared with 80 a month ago, also brought out considerable realizing sales. The bulk of support came from shorts. Prices for the cash grain were steady. The market closed weak with prices off ⅛ to ½c, with December at 61¼@61⅜c, and May at 61½@⅝c. Local receipts 73 cars, four contract grade.

Oats—Strong to urgent demand by cash interests and shorts. Active buying of oats by cereal manufacturers at Minneapolis also augmented the firmness of the local market. At the close prices were ¼ to ½c higher, with December at 48⅛, and May at 45¾c. Local receipts 89 cars.

Provisions were bearishly affected by the further slump in corn and by a decline of 5 to 10c in live hogs. Sentiment in the pit was bearish al day, and closing prices showed losses of 5@7½ to 20c, with pork showing the greatest decline.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat 30 cars; corn 109; oats 98; hogs 23,000 head.

NORTH SIDE

In the very best and newest part of the north side, on Williams street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, I have recently constructed three beautiful eight-room, two-story houses, on large, beautiful, elevated and shaded lots, with all modern conveniences. All walls and ceilings are decorated, floors waxed and polished. I am offering these homes on very liberal terms and at a special price. The street is now being cherted and when completed will be one of the prettiest in the city.

In another section of the north side, I am offering an attractive home on a lot 80x190 feet, with east front, at a special price and can give reasonable terms.

Receipt That Cures Weak Men--Free

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So, I have determined to send a copy of the prescription, free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope, to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men, and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor-failure ever put together.

I have in my possession a prescription for them a copy in confidence, so that any man, anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what, I believe, is the quickest-acting, restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so, cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Mr. A. E. Robinson, 3982 Luck Bldg., Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid receipt, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope, free of charge.

CONTEST OVER PROHI LAW NOT YET CONCLUDED

Argument Was Made Before Judge Newman Yesterday by Attorneys Mayson and Felder.

The Christian Moerlein Brewing Company and the Chattanooga Brewing Company's injunction proceedings against Solicitor of the Superior Court C. D. Hill, City Attorney Mayson, Chief of Police Jennings and other city officials, which was opened before Hon. William T. Newman, judge of the United States court Thursday morning, occupied the session throughout the day yesterday.

Briefly stated, the brewing companies named and others on the last day of last year, the day before the prohibition law became effective, asked Judge Newman to restrain the enforcement of the act, asserting that it was illegal because it was not passed according to the state constitution.

When court convened yesterday morning City Attorney Mayson had the floor, and for an hour or more added to his argument of the day before, in which he claimed that the act was legal in every way, and denied the allegations of the lawyers for the movants. Mr. Mayson was followed by T. B. Felder, of counsel for the brewers. Mr. Felder declared that the act was not legally passed, and cited that the state constitution says that:

"No bill shall become a law unless it shall receive a majority of the votes of all the members elected to each house of the general assembly, and it shall in every instance so appear on the journal."

Mr. Felder then admitted that the bill passed the senate in regular form, but declared that when it went to the house a number of amendments were added, and that when it was sent back to the senate its passage was irregular, because when the amended bill was passed by the senate it was by less than twenty-three—less than the constitutional majority.

After Mr. Felder shall have concluded this morning, Judge Spencer Atkinson will address the court. City Attorney Mayson will conclude the argument after Mr. Atkinson shall have finished.

Our Bankers

"Young man, get all you can for your money without risk," advised the late Russell Sage. "Is it a good business proposition?" is Thomas F. Ryan's fundamental query. Of the investments of the rich, a financial writer says the elemental requirement is "security of principal." And, while none of our banks pay dividends of 150 per cent, nor sell $100-par shares at $5,000, as did the Chemical National bank of New York at one time, yet we find the Sage estate including $146,000 of Georgia bonds, Ryan a large owner of S. A. L. and So. Ry., Harriman gripping So. Pac. and C. of Ga., and Gates doing an industrial development stunt in Texas. So much for sober confidence in the future of the South—more later. In no class is conservatism more pronounced than among our bankers. Note their patronage of our Bank-Supply Department. What can be safer than "the best?" How can you get more for your money than "the best?" "No way," you say—then, try it to-day.
